Now, this is a story all about how Tolkien's work got flipped-turned upside down
And I'd like to take a minute
Just light a hearth
I'll tell you how I became an elf in an Earth called Middle Earth

In West Philadelphia born and raised
In the juvie was where I spent most of my days
Chillin' out, maxin', relaxin', all cool
And all shootin' some Uzis instead of goin' to school
When a couple of Jews started bixing a nood
Said they came all the way from Hollywood
They gave me one little contract and said "sign right there, and you're movin' with your brothers to Amazon's lair"

I whistled for a cab and when it came near
The license plate said, "xe/xim" and the driver was queer
If anything I could say that this cab was rare
But I thought to myself "Can these crackas get any gayer?"

I pulled up to the mansion of Bezos and his gang
And assumed the lordship of - what else - the rangs
I looked at my kingdom
I was finally there
To star in the show as the elf with nappy hair

It began with the founding of the great banks: three were given to the Dutch; frugal, wisest and most prudent of all investors. Seven to the Swiss Lords; great miners and craftsmen of the commodity funds. And nine, nine banks were gifted to the race of Anglos, who above all else desire power. For within these banks was bound the liquidity and book value to govern each economy. But they were all of them deceived, for another bank was made: in the the land of Israel, in the offices of Temple Mount, the dark lord Rothschild founded, in secret, a central bank to control all others. And into this bank he poured his cruelty, his malice, and his will to dominate all economies.

The board is changed. I feel it in the threads. I feel it in the posts. I smell it in the seethe. Much that once was funny is lost, for none now post, will remember it.

It began with the forging of the Great Memes.
Bane was given to the Oldfags, immortal, wisest and fairest of all beings. Wojak to the Newfags, great salt miners and shitposters of the offtopic threads. And Sneed, Sneed was gifted to the race of /pol/ crossposters, who above all else desire power. For within sneedposting, was bound the strength and the will to govern each board.

But they were all of them deceived, for another meme was made. In the land of Israel, in the fires of Mount Mindgeek, the Dark Lord Schlomo, forged in secret, a master meme to spam above all others and into this meme he poured his cruelty, his malice and his will to dominate all life. BBC spam to rule the boards.

One by one, the free boards of Four Chan fell to the power of the spam. But there were some who resisted. A last alliance of /pol/fags and Oldfags marched against the armies of JIDF and on the catalogue of /gif/ they fought for the freedom of Four Chan. Victory was near but the power of the paid shilling could not be undone. It was in this moment when all hope had faded that Tariq Nasneed, closeted gay, forged the Buck Breaking meme.

Schlomo the enemy of the free anons of Four Chan was defeated.

Saw a tweet about hobbits being anarchists because they have no king.

Here's the thing.

Gondor had no king until a bunch of hobbits went through a heck of a lot of trouble putting one loyal to them on that throne.

They're not anarchists.

They're the CIA.

Deep in tha land of England, in tha fog of London, the white lord Nigel Worthington III forged a masta rang and into this rang he poured his logic, his wisdom and his will to enlighten all life

One rang to civilize them all.

One by one, tha hoodz of midda earf fell to the power of tha ring, but there was sum who said fuk whitey

A last chimpout of Black Panthers and hoodrats shucked and jived against tha white devils and on tha white mans very doorstep they rioted for tha freedom of midda earf

They was about to win but tha power of tha rang could not be undid

And tha rang of civilization has a will of its own. It betrayed Tyronicus, to his death

And sum shit that niggas should know wuz forgot

Bullshit became legend, legend became history

And for tree hundid an fiddy years tha ring was forgot

Until, when chance came, it stole anotha brotha

It came to tha nigga Tom, who took it deep into tha suburbs of a gated community

Tha rang gave Tom unnatural long life. For thirty five long years it gentrified him and in tha green hills around his ranch style two bedroom one bath home it waited

Whiteness snuck back into tha streets of tha projects

Rumor growed of a light in tha west, raps of a nameless fear, and tha rang of civilization knew it wuz time

It ditched Tom, then something happened that tha rang did not expect

It was picked up by tha most unlikely creature there wuz, a nogget named Darnell Swaggins of Detroit

Cuz soon noggits will be kangs of us all

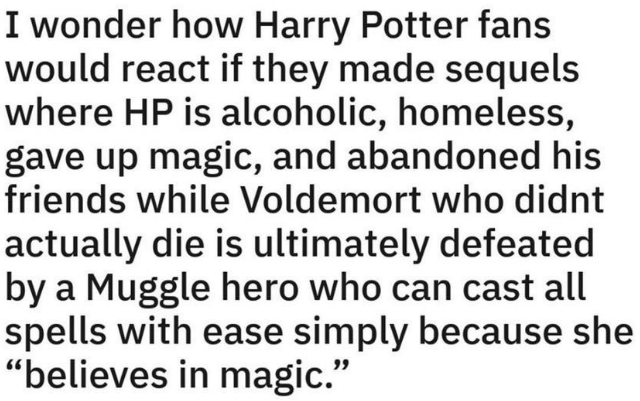
Sounds about right



I wonder how Harry Potter fans would react if they made sequels where HP is alcoholic, homeless, gave up magic, and abandoned his friends while Voldemort who didnt actually die is ultimately defeated by a Muggle hero who can cast all spells with ease simply because she "believes in magic."

>When I was your age I was the same. Did I ever tell you I stole your mother's hair regularly? I became quite adept at stealth and potions for this precise reason. To transform into your mother and pleasure myself. There is this mirror... or there was, at any rate, I can't seem to find it anymore, that showed you your fondest wish. I would transform into your mother, look into that mirror and watch myself make love to her while your father watched, helpless to change anything

>Those were the best orgasms of my life, Potter

>Before I could find my way to a safe spot, your father found me, and thinking me Lily proceeded to fondle me
>It felt good, Potter
>Forbidden fruit tastes the sweetest
>You know that polyjuice potion doesn't change your voice, of course. Yet James Potter never suspected a thing when I didn't speak. He smiled and said I was learning.
>Oh I learned alright. I learned never to touch polyjuice potion again. Not because I feared such a thing would happen again, but because I feared I would want it to. That I'd seek it out.
>Polyjuice potion and it's ingredients are restricted for a reason, Potter. The very recipe is not available to students.

Ocean explorer, have I ever told you about my former fiancé, Caledon Hockley? He once took me on a luxurious trip aboard the most majestic vessel created by man. A great man of many virtues and success, he used to pamper me and shower me with expensive gifts, basically treating me like a Queen. Oh, he loved me so very dearly and with utter loyalty, this made me hate his guts and thus I was even considering suicide just to escape from his kindness and affection. I showed him how grateful I was by cheating on him with a poor lower-class bum, who hadn't taken a bath in month and had achieved nothing of worth in his entire life. After spreading my legs for him, I watched him die horribly in freezing water, from the comfort of a piece of wood that had room for two but that I kept only for myself. I'm telling you this, because even though I've only known this bum for a couple of days and I now have a loyal husband, loving children and grandchildren, even to this day, the thrill of cheating with a dirty no-gooder just to spite Cal and watching the life escape from his eyes as his body shut down from agonizing hypothermia is still the best memory of my life and still gives my old vagina shivering tingles. I stole one of Cal's most valuable diamond necklaces, but not before leaving him a gratuitous letter filled with poisonous insults, and after we made it back to shore, I never talked to him again. Cal killed himself shortly afterwards due to financial distress. Although the diamond necklace is still to this day worth an immense fortune and holds significant historical value for you, I just threw it in the ocean on a whim 5 minutes ago. Did you know it belonged to the great King Louis XVI? I can't imagine the trouble Cal went through just to obtain it for me. He was a good fiancé.

Because all the guys on the ship (and their investors) had worked really hard to try to find that necklace, and she had a fetish for destroying the hopes and dreams of men. It was the last, and greatest, orgasm she ever had so she died peacefully.

Your average Jew isn't very smart but you can have a civil war and still leave him 86 percent combat effective.

Here's a tip. Aim for his weak spot and criminalize infant genital mutilation. Make it illegal and take that baby-cutter out for good.

Imagine living in a society that has had decades of total jewish post-WW2 dominance in business, mass media, academia, film, government etc. with no opposition, where 'they' have embedded themselves so deep within your psyche that you don't even know they are there, structuring your thoughts for you. And imagine that your icons, your culture, your favorite television shows, movies, music, everything you were brought up on and know and love, is a jewish creation (a trick) and/or was pushed by 'them', likely so as to weaken you in some way.

Now imagine they have invented an unknown amount of terms, have drastically changed the English language and made up new words, changed their meanings, all to usher in radical change that they fund and then propagate through their global inter-connected network of news, tv, movies, and so on. Imagine they have quite literally bombarded you, your parents, and your grandparents minds from birth, and you're so accustomed to it that you don't even recognize it's happening.

Imagine they own you, your family, and everyone you know and love. Their total assets are in the 'mere' trillions, but in reality they have a literally unlimited supply of fiat currency to prop up anything they see fit. Imagine every aspect of modernity being entirely dominated by jewish influence.

And then imagine dedicating your whole life and existence to debating over which piece of this propaganda was 'better', which had hotter chicks, better scenes, dialogue, and which made 'them' the most money to further destroy you.

Imagine wasting your life metaphorically playing around in an endlessly deep pit of excrement, splashing it all over you and your friends and dunking each others' heads underneath.

This film documents why France is considered . . .

. . . the World's septic tank. Though the events of THE CURSED may strike uninformed viewers as extreme, implausible and "over-the-top," they actually pale in comparison to the Real Life French conflagration. France is blamed for instigating both World Wars, because it is such a defenseless "attractive nuisance." After burning Saint Joan, these irredeemable miscreants beheaded an entire nunnery for good measure. THE CURSED also saw the planet's most famous religious edifice go up in smoke recently. This failed nation's most famous invention lops off noggins, starting with their "royal family." That's why no one in the know asks for "the royal treatment" if they're crazy enough to visit Gaul. Typical Frenchmen were cast to play the numerous "dragons" featured in this flick, to save on the make-up budget. If the Garden of Eden is in the Middle East, THE CURSED illustrates where there's a Hell on Earth.

>African American Father and Husband was shot in the back for sleeping in a Wendy's parking lot! OUTRAGE!
Whoa, that's scary as hell! Why did cops just start shooting at a car in a parking lot?
>Well... they were called there
For a sleeping man in a parking lot?
>Well...he was sleeping in the drive-thru
He just fell asleep while ordering some spicy nuggets?
>Well...no, he was passed out.
So he was drunk driving?
>Well...y-yeah but he was stopped!
...because he passed out while at the wheel.
>Yes but he was still shot in the back while sleeping!
Passed out you mean?
>Yes
So the cops just rolled up, sat in the back seat of the guy's car and shot him in the back?
>N-no, they woke him up and asked him to pull into a parking spot.
And then they shot his car?
>No he was outside the car
And they just shot him in the back?
>No they spoke with him for about 6 minutes and asked him to take a sobriety test,
And then they killed him?
>No he agreed to take the test.
And then they killed him?
>No, he took the test and failed.
And then they killed him?
>No he admitted to drinking and was placed under arrest.
And then they killed him?
>No, he resisted arrest.
And then they killed him?
>No, he grabbed a taser and fired it at the police...then they killed him.
So he wrestled a deadly weapon from the cops and tried to use it on them in order to flee the scene of a crime?
>It was just a taser bro!
BLM has been telling me for years now that tasers are deadly weapons and should not be used.
>Y-yeah but...
So he was using a deadly weapon to escape arrest?
>Y-yeah but...
So the cops acted in self defense?
>Yes...no...wait yes
So the real story is: "Criminal shot dead after assaulting police with a deadly weapon after committing a crime and trying to flee a lawful arrest" correct?
>NO JUSTICE NO PEACE!

Gregory Tyree Boyce-- one of the guys who was vying forKristen Stewart's heart and attention in the first 'Twilight' movie has died ... TMZ has confirmed.

Boyce passed away last Wednesday in Las Vegas. An official cause of death is pending.

His mother,Lisa Wayne, confirmed the news on social media, writing ... "My baby boy, Greg Boyce was the best chef....oh man. He was in the process of starting a wing business, West Wings. He created the flavors to his perfection and named them after west coast rappers. Snoop Dog, Kendrick Lamar, Roddy Ricch, The Game, etc." She continued, "He had flavors like, Tequila Lime Agave...those were my favorite. A Hennessy Maple flavor, oh man, just so damn good. I can say that my son was my favorite chef. He was on to something great and that was his passion."

Racism is pattern recognition.

America took Martin Luther King's words to heart, "Judge a man not by the color of his skin but by the content of his character" and the conclusion we reached was "man I fucking hate blacks even more now"

☐ What do you do for your Black Exhaustion, anon? Anonymous (ID: aGcPVjJY) 08/02/21(Mon)23:26:53 No.332505650

How do you cope with your Black Exhaustion (aka Nigger Exhaustion) on a daily basis? How severe is your condition?

I have an acute case. I can't even see negroid faces in magazines or TV or the internet, I have to look away even in most movies.
>fast fwd through scenes in videos/films with negro chartacters >avert eyes from all negros on the street, in stores, etc >avoid looking at current events news more now to avoid news about niggers niggering

Advice/tips?

There's what you can do:
>don't consume pop culture >walk around with a white cane and sunglasses while shopping

Then there's the dream:
>move to rural New England >disconnect from tv and internet entirely >suck-start a rifle when the neighborhood gets a little dark in 30 years

I drive around town yelling nigger out of the window. I sing songs in the car but replace every word with "nigger" or "fuck niggers" or "I hate niggers".
I practice trying to say nigger as hatefully and forcefully as I can, sadly the words in say can't match the hatred in my heart

Hakuna Matata, my name is Jumbo Gumbo
I'm a 27 year old American afriboo(african fan for you white devils). I draw with berries and maggots on my stone tablet, and spend my days perfecting my art and playing superior African games. (Starving to death, Aids, Ball in a cup)

I train with my bostaff every day, this superior weapon can't cut clean through anything because it's a stick, and is vastly inferior to any other weapon on earth. I earned my bostaff license two years ago, and I have been getting better every day.

I speak mouth clicking fluently, both Hibbity and Bibbity dialect, and I write fluently as well. I know everything about African history and their tribal codes, which I follow 100%

When I get my African visa, I am moving to the Congo to not attend a prestigious college because there isn't one. I hope I can make it to age 50!

I don't own any clothes, so I don't wear anything around town. I want to get used to walking around butt naked before I move to Africa, so I can fit in easier. I make clicking noises and rape my elders and seniors as often as I can, but rarely does anyone manage to respond.

Oh fuck im crying

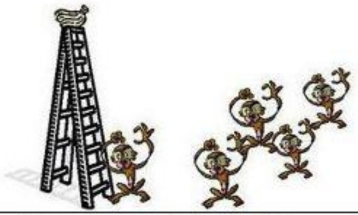
now what, /b/tards?

A group of scientists placed 5 monkeys in a cage and in the middle, a ladder with bananas on the top.

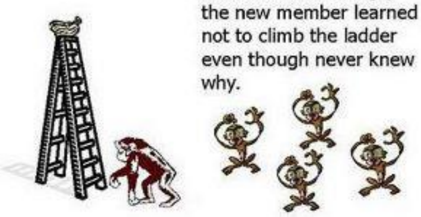
Every time a monkey went up the ladder, the scientists soaked the rest of the monkeys with cold water.

After a while, every time a monkey went up the ladder, the others beat up the one on the ladder.



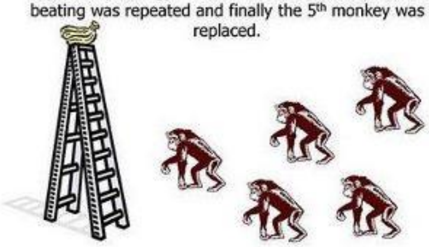
After some time, no monkey dare to go up the ladder regardless of the temptation.

Scientists then decided to substitute one of the monkeys. The 1st thing this new monkey did was to go up the ladder. Immediately the other monkeys beat him up.



After several beatings, the new member learned not to climb the ladder even though never knew why.

A 2nd monkey was substituted and the same occurred. The 1st monkey participated on the beating for the 2nd monkey. A 3rd monkey was changed and the same was repeated (beating). The 4th was substituted and the beating was repeated and finally the 5th monkey was replaced.



What was left was a group of 5 monkeys that even though never received a cold shower, continued to beat up any monkey who attempted to climb the ladder.

If it was possible to ask the monkeys why they would beat up all those who attempted to go up the ladder.....
I bet you the answer would be....

"I don't know – that's how things are done around here"

Does it sounds familiar?

Don't miss the opportunity to share this with others as they might be asking themselves why we continue to do what we are doing if there is a different way out there.

The monkey experiment works well for many things, but is a flawed comparison to /b/ because we did not have the controlled replacement.

With /b/ (And, by extension, halfchan) the bananas were replaced with bad shitposting/tumblr-tier threads/"I don't want to read the sticky"/etc.

Every time one of us monkeys tried to climb the metaphorical ladder and bring those terrible things to /b/, we'd insult, troll, and otherwise assault them into not being a cancerous faggot. This went on for a few years, but the model broke down when the monkeys got attention from a large group of uninitiated monkeys, and new monkeys came in ever larger numbers.

One monkey gets initiated quickly and completely because there is no competition for his behavioral patterns

Three monkeys are difficult to initiate because they reinforce each other's bad habits and the older monkeys have to put in a lot of effort to change their behavior.

Seven monkeys are frustratingly hard. New monkeys have a difficult time figuring out who they should learn from, because there are fewer old monkeys than there are new monkeys, and the old monkeys are already sick of initiating new monkeys, so they don't try as hard. Some of them even leave.

Twenty monkeys is impossible. There are so many monkeys trying to climb the ladder that the old monkeys look like the odd ones out, and get ignored in favor of following what they perceive as the popular thing to do. Some of the old monkeys are still there, but most of them have left in favor of less cancerous cages. The only remnants of the community that started there is in stories that the older new monkeys tell, and the monkeys making shit up that sounds like they're old monkeys to look cool.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Eternal_September

In Usenet slang, Eternal September (or the September that never ended)[1] began in September 1993,[2] the month that Internet service provider America Online began offering Usenet access to its tens of thousands, and later millions, of users. Before then, Usenet was largely restricted to American colleges and universities. Every year in September, a large number of incoming freshmen acquired access to Usenet for the first time, and took some time to become accustomed to Usenet's standards of conduct and "netiquette". But, after a month or so, these new users would either learn to comply with the networks' social norms or simply tire of using the service. However, for the existing userbase, the influx of new users from September 1993 onwards was a new and endless manifestation of the phenomenon.

This was in part because the new internet service providers such as AOL made little effort to educate their users about Usenet customs, but it was also because of the large-scale and seemingly endless intake of new users. Whereas the regular September freshman influx would quickly settle down, Usenet's existing culture did not have the capacity to integrate the sheer and endless number of new users, and so they overwhelmed the network's existing social norms.[3]

Since then, the rise in popularity of the Internet has brought on a constant stream of new users. Thus, from the point of view of the pre-1993 Usenet users, the influx of new users in September 1993 never ended. The term was used by Dave Fischer in a January 26, 1994, post to alt.folklore.computers, "It's moot now. September 1993 will go down in net.history as the September that never ended."[4]

In homage to the term, one news server, formerly named Motzarella.org,[5] now calls itself Eternal September and gives the date as a running tally of days since September 1993.[6]

A tongue-in-cheek program called sdate outputs the current date, formatted using the Eternal September calendar (September X, 1993, with X an unbounded counter for days since the beginning of that epoch).[7] This should not be confused with the identically named sdate, one of the sixty commands that came with the First Edition of Unix, that was used to set the system clock.[8]

There was something wrong with the so-called 2020-2021 "bullrun", but I couldn't quite pinpoint it back then. Today I understand now what went wrong: JEWS.
These Hebrew insects used leverage, their access to traditional Judaic capital structures, people and even institutions to corner and manipulate the markets, promoting scam projects like SOL to nebulous valuations while suppressing real improvements to crypto technology (ICP).

Are forefathers knew about them, but modern popular culture has propagandized the youth and numbed society to their presence.
We must complete the work started in 1933.

Train conductor here. I've hit 3 people. I felt nothing whatsoever as my vehicle flattened them.

I fail to see the tragedy. They choose to die, and I escort them to the other side.

A lot of guys in this profession have views like you, end up getting scarred over seeing death. It's strange, you'd think they wouldn't go into this line of work if they had a fear of morbidity.

How long have you been doing it for?
How fast were you going when they happened? Did you splatter them at full speed or run over them coming into a station?

Train seems like a weird way to suicide.

15 years. Around 90mph normally, and so far all of them have been hit at near full speed.

A train travelling at 100mph can take over a mile to come to a full stop, I put my break on (it's company policy, otherwise I'd speed up) but it's futile, especially considering 1) these people intend to die, so aren't going to move and 2) a train weighs several thousand tons. All of the ones I've slew so far were out in the countryside.

Missed this, sorry. It depends on your country and the organisations within it... It's a decent line of work, pays pretty well.

The most important thing is that you need to have the right mentality. You must be prepared to stare death in the face, which isn't something everyone can do. I view myself as a guardian to the great beyond, someone has to bring death to those unsuited for living, and that person is me.

For me, there is no guilt. But yes, almost all rail companies will typically give drivers paid time off to allow them to "recover from psychological trauma". I laugh at the prospect, this is part of the job and should not be considered an unexpected phenomenon. I have always turned down time off on the three occasions, I wouldn't even report the casualties if I didn't have to.

>>36082025
It is a good career for those suited to it. I wish you good luck.

>>36082079
Well, it isn't dangerous for us, the driver. Incidents which damage the train are very rare, even more so nowadays because of improved safety and collision systems. When I've terminated people on the track I haven't ever feared for the safety of the train or the passengers, the main concern is ensuring that nobody on the train is panicking.

As all of my hits have been out in the countryside, as long as the train is determined by onboard indicators to be safe, we continue the journey without stopping. I then have to follow a procedure where I inform HQ about the incident and give details of where it took place, what time, etc. They will then dispatch the team to this location. It's different if it's near the platform, because there will almost always be witnesses, so passengers will know anyway. Ambulances (pretty much always futile) are called, along with trauma councillors and police. When there's a hit in the countryside, only paramedics and police are sent, because there are no witnesses to council.

Otherwise we don't tell passengers, unless they ask. This policy varies between companies. Personally I would rather we told them, I feel those who have been so close to the realm of death should know of the incident.

Anon I love you.

Anyway, since the train normally just keeps going, is there ever issues of blood splatter on the train?

I could imagine that being worrying to people who see it as your train flies by them.

Hah! I'm a little younger than that though!
>>36082455 (You)
Yes, it can be quite an issue, especially in the daytime when it's more visible. It's only ever seen by those standing at the platform, and even then not always, depending on the colour of the train... Blood on a brown train won't be that visible, but if the train is white or blue then it will be pretty obvious, even more so in direct sunlight.

Once the journey has finished, the blood splatter has to be looked at to see where the impact was made, along with the rail markings being investigated etc... I don't work in this area, but I would like to in the future. Once this information has been logged it is then cleaned off. If it has dried, it will be painted over. Personally I think trains should be painted red from the start, utilizing the blood of the fallen.

The first few times I went, I went wearing a T Shirt with a picture of Scooby Doo, then I went without realising the next few times with a T Shirt with a picture of Shaggy. People noticed and started calling me 'The Mystery Machine'.

>tfw didn't know what to do >ended up buying several shirts with different members of the Scooby Doo gang (Fred, Daphne, Scrappy etc) on them, and now I always wear them at the gym >all of the exercises I do are related to solving mysteries >for example my 'cardio' is to run in one of the front doors then run through the back of the gym and come through a back door, like I am Scooby and the Gang running from a monster through the different doors
>Instead of deadlifts I do 'Jinkies Jacks' where I lift the bar until it is too heavy then loudly say 'Jinkies' and drop it >always wear a zombie mask that I pull off between sets

I can't stop because people really like it, and I don't want to become hated, but I am making no gains.

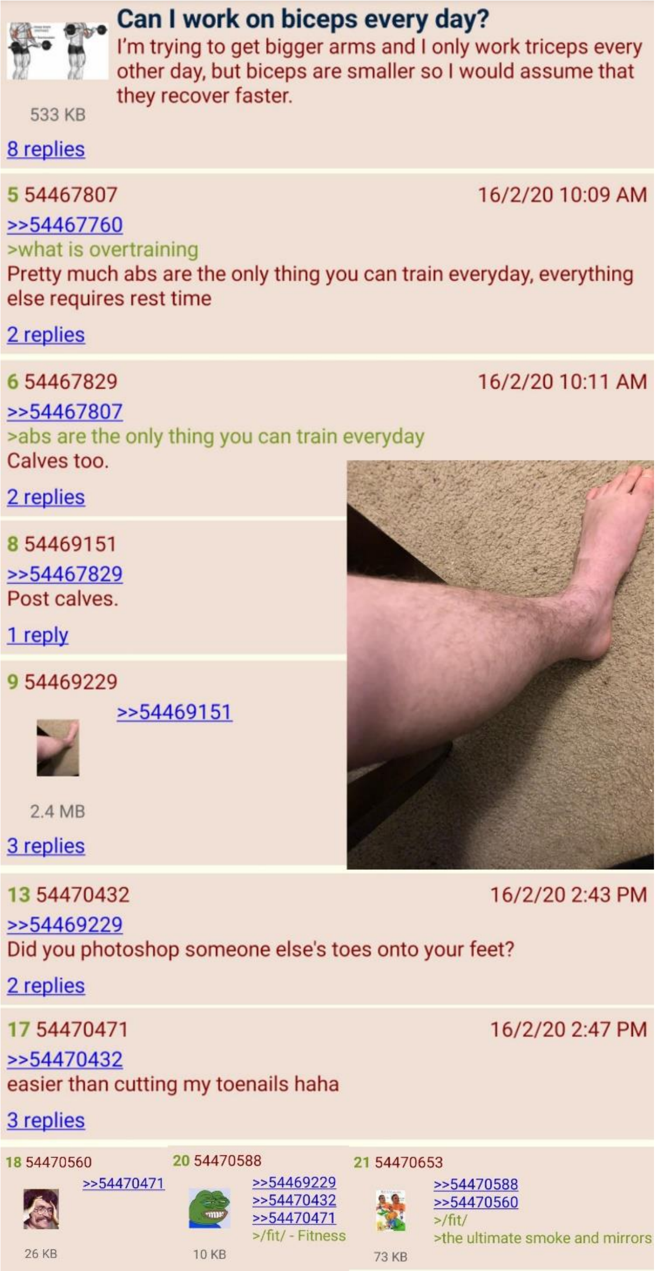
Why does running give you such a sick, frail looking body?

Anonymous 01/01/22(Sat)18:14:32 No.64972

Because it's a SIN!

Proverbs 28:1 – "The wicked flee when no one pursues, but the righteous are bold as a lion."



Can I work on biceps every day?
I'm trying to get bigger arms and I only work triceps every other day, but biceps are smaller so I would assume that they recover faster.

Hello gentlemen!

I come to you with an idea if you will, someone on /pol/ wanted a ded fauci and i wrote an autistic comment about it (pic related) but it got me thinking, with all the technology we have, is it possible to make an anonymous list of smart contract - anon-fundeded monero sourced lists of the worlds evil people, skull&bones, rotschilds, rockefellers etc,...

People can anonymously donate Monero(ticker: $XMR) to a certain person, and then when there's let's say 3kk in the fund, someone goes and stabs the guy, takes a picture and uploads it to the blockchain as NFT.

Then you could use a random oracle network to confirm the death from news sources, and the uploader of the original ded guy NFT (chosen by Kleros jurors) gets X amount of almost untrackable privacy token monero for his good deed for mankind. (+the world is actually a better place)

You could do the same for all the other shits fucking up our planet. you know who im talking about.., hunger games irl / natural selection / stop fucking up our planet, and our lifes.

Feel free to discuss or provide your opinion why this would be / wouldn't be a good idea?

And most importantly /biz/ - how can we profit from this?

Comment too long. Click here to view the full text.

So I made some vaginas out of cardboard, and put them on top of cupcake trays filled with stuff that gives that vagina taste (for Mexico I filled a tray with hot sauce and now I can stick my tongue through the card and eat the hot sauce pussy so its like I eat a pussy from Mexico)

I did it for 5 countries, Australia twice because I was able to taste Australian vagina before and after a shower. Do you guys use your /int/ knowledge in similar ways?

I do. For example earlier today I see this thread

And I got curious about the pussy taste of other countries, it gave me a pussy curiosity. So I made some vaginas out of cardboard, and put them on top of cupcake trays filled with stuff that gives that vagina taste (for Mexico I filled a tray with hot sauce and now I can stick my tongue through the card and eat the hot sauce pussy so its like I eat a pussy from Mexico)

I did it for 5 countries, Australia twice because I was able to taste Australian vagina before and after a shower. Do you guys use your /int/ knowledge in similar ways?

Hey OP, don't listen to these guys
I have the same fetish and IMO it is fairly normal. Notice how the replies are from Iceland, which has no trains, and Canada and Brazil which have low tier infastructure?

I am Swiss and we have top tier train system so I think it is a normal fetish for us.

What do you like most about trains lel?
I am personally sexually attracted to the fact that people commit suicide in front of them. Whenever I hear of a train suicide I pretend it was a hot girl and that her breasts and pussy are on the trains front so when I get on the train I am on her breasts and pussy. I also find myself attracted to train robbers because I have a rape fetish so it is like they are raping the people who killed themselves under that train.

I have a hypothetical question

Completely hypothetical

Would you read a book about a 29yr old married man who goes full schizo and gaslights himself into murder his wife and daughter and raping the family dog because he thinks his wife was prostituting his daughter to an elitist pedophile ring so he embarks on a quest to uncover said ring with the help of a drug addicted afro escort.

Would you ?

Not like im writing a book about this or anything just wondering yeah maybe i am asking for a friend actually yea thats what im doing

So would you ?

I hate flirting so fucking much. "What are you going to do to with me?," she says, alone on a bed with a man. I don't know, list off the crimes of the international jew from the murder of Christ onwards.
"Buy me a drink." Get a job.
"What are you staring at?" Your gazongas, your milkbags, your jiggly jumpers, by which I mean "your personality".

Why was she such a massive slut?
The other Diamonds did not teach her any of that degenerate behavior.

Pink Diamond represents Lucifer who rebelled against the Trinity Godhead, which the Diamond Authority stands for.

Lucifer held special station over Earth as the Morning Star(Venus) before his downfall, much like how PD held dominion over Earth.

Lucifer decided that humanity did not need God to rule them. PD decided that the Diamonds needed to leave Earth alone.

Lucifer becomes the deceiver, or Devil, to convince Adam and Eve and other angels to rebel. PD becomes Rose Quartz, and convinces humans and other Gems to rebel.

War breaks out in heaven, resulting in the Devil being cast out with his demons, bound to the realm of the Earth. Rose Quartz and the Crystal Gems are left behind on Earth.

PD's Earth colony was established 6,000 years ago. Biblical Chronology places the rebellion in Eden approximately 6,000 years ago(give or take from our current year).

>The antichrist is the “man of lawlessness,” the “son of destruction,” who will lead the world into rebellion against God
-Steven leads the crystal gems in the rebellion.

>The whole earth marveled as they followed the beast
-Steven somehow is able to convince others to follow him.

>with lion-like qualities of power and strength. Babylon was known for its ability to move quickly (like a lion). Such qualities will characterize the antichrist.
-Steven is linked with a lion and has strong abilities

>the antichrist's spirit may depart from his body and be taken into the abyss, where Satan will offer the world's kingdoms to him
-Steven has the ability to separate his 'spirit' from his body and travel to a dark realm.

>specifically refers to “the first beast, whose mortal wound was healed.” The “first beast” is the antichrist in Revelation 13:14
>Revelation 13:14 - It ordered them to set up an image in honor of the beast who was wounded by the sword and yet lived
-Pink Diamond is believed to have been killed by a sword but was really alive the whole time.
-Steven 'died' in the last finale but came back to life.

>antichrist will likely engage in a grade-B miracle in healing the wounded
-Steven can heal broken gems is it weird that playing minecraft sort of makes me feel like i have four arms? i know people usually play it because of the building/surviving/etc but i love playing minecraft because it makes me feel like i have four arms, for example two of my arms are controlling the character and the other two are in the game but they're also mine. i don't get this with ANY other first person game except for doom, which is weird because doomguy is an amputee.

every time i bring it up with someone nobody has any clue what the fuck i'm saying, but it's just how i feel. anyways yeah sorry OP just wanted to rant

I tried blocking the cops inside the house using the wooden doors though they just bust them open with ease and get out every time, what gives!

POSTED: FEBRUARY 12

I will admit I have not personally played this game yet as it is the Sabbath, and I may never play it because I, as a Jewish man, am not really comfortable being at all involved with 'pigs'. I will say, though, that my Shabbos goy who installed the game for me today was disappointed in the lack of look inversion and was VERY depressed, which made ME feel depressed (so I won't be tipping him).

I may play the game on Monday while hiding away from the inevitable inundation of Valentine's Day (Christian!!) festivities which will undoubtedly be pervading through western society and directly attacking me and my faith (as happens every year). I would very much appreciate if the developers would find the kindness in their hearts to offer the Golden Blicky DLC for free to all Jewish game owners on February 14th to help us get through this yearly massacre.

I do hope I will get much enjoyment out of this game in the future, but already I am quite pleased that I was able to purchase it on sale and be part of the 1%.

Can confirm. I had to use some basic genetics, markov chains, graph theory, probability/combinatorics, etc to make my game. pic related. It's fun learning about certain areas so I can use them in the game. You'd be surprised what kind of data you can find out there, I even got data for urine flow rates according to age (which I use in-game) and things like that. Unfortunately I wasn't able to get any data on vaginal/anal sizes relative to age/other factors... so I just had to make up my own formula and made sure that it lined up with the vaginal size measurement data I found for adults.

It's a loli kidnapping simulator. You can also raise the girls afterwards and there's even breeding mechanics which actually look at DNA, although the DNA is pretty simple, there's only like 30 genes. I think 5 for hair colour, 5 for skin tone (as seen in pic) 3 or 4 for eye colour, then some non-colour ones for various things. For the eye colour and such I researched a bit and found that two genes (HERC2 and GEY) seemed to play the biggest roles, so I added those in, and then a couple other genes I Just made up to affect things like the collagen levels. The skin tone stuff I just made up with various genes contributing to shades/tones/melanin levels. Hair was just 4 darkness ones and how many you had would affect how dark the hair was, and if you had few and you also had a recessive red hair gene, then you'd have red hair. You can also expand the dungeon in your basement to house more lolis, put in more things in it, etc. There's cops and a crime system, but their AI sucks ass right now.

There's also stealth mechanics with a noise system, etc. I need to work more on it though. gif related, it's throwing cans to distract lolis and make them investigate where the suspicious noise came from.

I should probably make them pick up the can or something later, or so that you could drop a trail of candy/other interesting items to lead them somewhere...

Is there something in particular about the game that you're confused by? I understand that the genetics system is a vast oversimplification of what really happens, if you were tripped up by that, but it wouldn't be very reasonable to make it that realistic, especially considering we don't even know the exact effects of most genes.

If you have any questions about the game and/or the science/math, feel free to ask away.

Well, yeah. If i didn't add that there would be nothing stopping the player from ramming his dick in a little loli without her being physically negatively affected. It's there to encourage the player to start slow.

Videos games fulfill the desires of man.
What are the desires of man?
to control to conquer to compete to express his emotions through violence video games absorb all of those desires and leave the man broken, a shell which has nothing to strive for because all of his desires are fulfilled and manifested through video games, in the virtual world. This got normalized because video games target people who might be a threat to society and the world order.

Happy that things are going according to plan.

Marry tomboys. Feed them until they can't move and then breed them until their eyes cross. Transform them into big, soft milfs. With each pregnancy, they become bigger, softer, heavier. Swollen with fertility. Full ti bursting with milk and delicious, fattening food. Put them in sundresses for easy access and effortless expansion. Enjoy the view as they squeeze themselves into jogging pants and attempt to do at-home yoga. Smile as they try to work off the pounds, and pile an extra helping into their plate. It's necessary, after all. They'll be eating for two for the next decade.

>There is a primal energy to this post.
>How can you make something so wholesome sound so depraved?
I was made a Lord of Architects, not for virtue, but for might.

It begins with the tomboy. It must. You cannot do this with someone who is unfit, physically or genetically. Nor can you do it to a whore. You cannot paint a masterpiece on a canvas that already has paint on it. It must be blank. Clean. Waiting to be drawn upon. What is a tomboy? She is fit. She enjoys activity. She loves life. That last part is key. She will not just make a loyal wife, but she also has the potential to truly enjoy serving her biological purpose as a woman. That is the key. A broken or maladjusted woman who hates life will hate the process. She will fight and struggle against instincts that a tomboy trusts.

It begins with pregnancy. Her appetite will increase. Her libido will begin to fluctuate. Her body is undergoing a second puberty, the transformation from girlishness to womanhood. In this state, you can easily bond with her. Breed her over and over again. Marinate the reptile stem of her brain in your seed. Her body will bloat up, swollen with life, filling with transformative hormones and chemicals. Take advantage of it. Double her portions. Feed her until she complains about it, then tell her it's "for the baby" and offer her more. Rub her feet. Rub her belly. Massage her breasts when they ache with milk. It's all part of the process. This is a journey for the both of you. Enjoy it. Some appetites come naturally. Others are taught. For the man, this breeding and doting is a natural appetite, it is part of your instincts. For the woman, it is a flavor she did not know she craved until you gave her a taste of it. The tomboy takes well to it. Teach her the appetites of motherhood. Show her the pleasures of of being bred.

As she swells larger and fuller, take advantage of her vanity to indulge yourself. As she grows out of her old clothes, encourage her to switch to sundresses, teddies, and sweat pants, all easy access clothing that also permit unchecked expansion and painless growth. Discourage the usage of underwear, for even easier access. To avoid stretch marks, oil or dairy lotion will need to be rubbed into her skin, and especially her thighs, stomach, and breasts. Volunteer your services, and enjoy the view. Her body will change, in some cases drastically, in most cases permanently. Her hips will widen. Her voice will deepen. All the hair on her body will become thicker and more prominent. Her body odor will change, becoming muskier, richer, more erotic. Enjoy these changes for the gifts that they are: they are secondary and tertiary fertility markers, and if you don't find them attractive already, you soon will. Do not allow her to become embarrassed or ashamed of her own fertility.

When she gives birth, impregnate her again. Continue to feed her. She may complain. Sympathize. Offer to help. Buy her yoga CDs and an exercise ball. Watch your swollen, grunting wife sweat and jiggle in thigh-hugging lycra spandex while she tries to do sun salutations and touch her toes without bending her knees. Enjoy the view. Appreciate the show. Offer support. Offer her more food. When the baby needs care, deal with it. Allow her to enjoy as much of the unspoiled pleasures of motherhood as she can. You will enjoy taking care of your own children, so it is hardly a terrible burden.

Convince her to take up walking or jogging. Go with her. Follow behind and appreciate the view. Encourage her when she starts to pant and flag. Offer her an energy shake. It has bananas in it. And weight gain powder. If she asks, the chocolate taste is normal, that's just the flavor of the supplements. It's not a lie. Buying the chocolate flavored ones helps hide the actual chocolate. Tell her how much you love her when you both get back home. Bend her over the kitchen table and prove it. Enjoy the greatest mark of progress with your art: being able to see the pale, soft bottom of her belly from behind as she bends over and presents herself, mewling for your attention. The visible-from-behind underbelly is a milestone. A beautiful, soft vision poking out from behind the full moon. Indulge in some amature astronomy. Stargazing is a gentleman's hobby.

Continue to feed her. Continue to breed her. Her body is now used to being a mother. It is more stable. More regulated. She takes to the pregnancy and feeding more smoothly, swelling up effortlessly to new sizes. Continue to oil her body to nurture her skin. Refuse to allow her to do it herself. She will begin to crave sexual contact. Provide it. Her exercises and stretching is not useless, she is building muscles underneath that fat, promoting her own strength and endurance. She may very well be stronger and more fit than she ever was before, but you would not know looking at her. The exercise keeps her healthy, it regulates the hormone production that aggressively breeding her has triggered. This is where the true wisdom of starting with a tomboy shines through. She exercises while believing she can still return to how she used to look. That is a silly delusion, but allowing her to keep it maintains the momentum of what is happening. She will never return to how she used to look. She is not a little girl anymore. She is a woman. And women do not look like little girls. She will understand that, in time.

Throughout this process, she will express milk. With a balanced but over-portioned diet of sweet, savory, and nutritious fatty food, it will be delicious. Do not allow her to switch to a formula. This is a rich and plentiful bounty, you have earned it. She is your wife, and you are cultivating her body. It is only natural for the process to yield fruit. It is only natural for you to enjoy that swollen, overripe fruit.

By the second pregnancy, the expression will be regular. Milk her often to keep it regular. The weight gain will give her at least one full cup size. The pregnancy hormones will permanently add at least one more, possibly several. The milk is a cup size unto itself. As long as she continues to express, her breasts will remain large and become slowly larger. She may voice some desire to eventually stop, but this is where your influence weighs in. Her lactation and her milking must become a habit. Multiple consecutive pregnancies will give her years of unbroken time being milky. She may voice a desire to eventually stop, but that voice will grow weaker over time. The voice will grow weaker, and the pleasure will grow stronger. Hone your technique in handling her nipples. She should find your touch arousing and addicting. You will have won a victory if you can convince her use your services more than that of a milking machine. Reward her, and yourself, by drinking from the tap.

She cannot be fattened up on her own milk, but it is fun, and erotic, to try. Pour all the excess back into her. Spoil her sloshing belly with kisses. What you lose in calories, you gain in progressing her mindset. Fatness and fullness and fertility, inexorably linked to happiness, contentment, and sexual pleasure.

The second pregnancy ends. By the time the third one begins, the system is largely self-sustaining. You are now merely along for the ride, helping to maintain the habits and behaviors you have set in motion. Two years of pregnancy cravings and pregnant eating, combined with your personal attention, has at least quadrupled the capacity of her stomach, and ruined her ability to know when she is full. Far from feeling pain when she is pushing her limits, now her only way of knowing she has overeaten is the drunken and slightly hazy pleasure being stuffed to the gills brings her. She no longer needs encouragement to eat herself to the point of needing to be helped out of her chair. Stuffed to bursting is her new normal. Any warning signs or feelings have been drowned out by the pregnancies. She can no longer discern the difference between fatness and pregnancy: she is merely full, and enjoys being filled. It is pleasurable. She wants to be filled to bursting, to be swollen and based in pleasure.

Her brain, having marinated for years in pregnancy hormones, your semen, and the pleasures that indulgence in procreation can bring, will have irrevocably changed. She cannot go back. She does not want to go back. She would not go back even if she could. Her fatness brings her happiness. Being fattened up, bred, and doted upon has fulfilled her basest and most instinctive needs as a woman. Your unswerving lust and physical appreciation for her has brought her contentment. She no longer seeks the validation of the world. She seeks validation only from you. You alone are the arbiter of her sexuality. The cycle ends only when you say it ends, whether that's nine months from now or ten years. Her body is what you have made of it, quite literally. Her beauty is in the eye of the architect who built her.

And this is the true secret. Milfs are not born or found. They are MADE. The journey to create them is just as much a part of the pleasure as the destination itself. And there is no better milf than the milf that was once a tomboy. Broad shoulders, a wide stomach, birthing hips, a strong constitution. An enjoyment of life, certain habits pertaining to physical fitness. They will serve her well as she is taught the rewards of indulging the instincts and cravings of her sex. She does not need to be taught these appetites. The merely need to be awoken within her.

Feed her until she cannot move. Breed her until her eyes cross. Fill her to bursting. She is a woman, and she will only ever know true happiness when she is fat and pregnant, stuffed from both ends with food and dick. Her instincts compel her to be bred, just as your instincts compel you to breed her. This is no fetish, for a fetish is a base and shallow thing, a deviancy, something that is counterproductive to reproduction. This is the opposite of a fetish. It is the enjoyment of what is meant to happen, the fulfillment of the very biological imperative for which sexuality exists. Teach her love the pleasures of being stuffed and bred, and you will never need to worry over loyalty or if she will change for the worse. Her lizard brain will not allow her to betray the man that has stained her very flesh and blood with the stench of his seed. Every drop of the guile and cleverness which nature has gifted her will be turned, by your cultivation of her habits and appetites, into becoming more of what you want her to be.

She cannot fight it. But it is fun to watch her try. It's the tomboy in her.

True art takes a lifetime to complete.

Idk which is funnier, that someone is willfully delusional to this degree, or the idea of how to walk someone home gently.

Yes, Crab and Hitagi have had sex. It's pretty obvious. However, because Asian countries have purity-fags and because the series as a whole tends to off-screen actual romantic intimacy (like the first kiss scene), we'll never get it on screen. Blame asians for sucking.

Why are obese people unattractive to normal people?

Simple. Because their limbs have the proportions of a baby's limbs. Obese people look like babies.

People who are attracted to obese people are pedophiles.

Which is exactly why globohomo pedophiles piledrive fat-acceptance down your throat. They want you to be a pedophile too.

So you were just born this way, attracted to kids? That's wild.
But anyways, keep digging.

Alright faggots, listen up. I'm only gonna tell this to you once, so you better fucking listen, otherwise I'm gonna move to some other city-state and teach there. So, there's this cave, right? AM I FUCKING GETTING TO YOU ARISTOTLE? THAT'S RIGHT SIT THE FUCK DOWN AND LET ME FINISH MY METAPHOR. Right. So there's this cave inside which people are tied and made to sit down with their backs to the opening. Now, above these people is a platform with a fire on it. There we have some fucking puppeteers with some fucking puppets. CONVINCING FUCKING PUPPETS. Now, they put the shadows on the wall using the fire, and you poor fucking faggots have no idea, because you can't even turn around. Life has been pretty much like this since you came out of your mother's rancid snatch, so you're convinced that the shadows on the walls are real. Well, are they real? NO, FAGGOTS! THEY'RE NOT! THE FUCKING PUPPETS BEHIND YOU AREN'T EVEN REAL. That's right, so here you are jerking yourself off to fucking shadows of puppets, and you don't even have any idea that you're fucking squeezing one off to a shadow of something that isn't even real, made by a fire that isn't even real as well. If only you poor motherfuckers could see the sun, then you'd realize just how fucking real shit is about to get. Yeah, that's right, the truth is out there, the form of truth to be specific. AND ITS NOT EVEN CROSSING YOUR DIMWITTED FUCKING BRAINS THAT YOU DONT HAVE A SNOWBALL'S CHANCE IN FUCK TO REALIZE IT!

OK stormfucks, many of us have seen the evidence and many have seen your weak rebuttals. But the facts still stand; stormfront has a web propaganda team. stormfront has and currently is still spamming on /pol/.

A. Gallery full of screenshots supporting the following:
http://min.us/mzbpVIKdRtK3I

B. "We should recognize our power and start infiltrating these groups. Do a google search for Anonymous and begin reading about them. Begin making connections. Begin infiltrating them. We could, over time, take them over by our sheer numbers. Or we can find out where they are and retaliate for their attacks against us, or both." -http://www.stormfront.org/forum/t863802/#post9953315

C. StormFront has a sub-community called SwarmFront (http://www.stormfront.org/forum/f214/), which is basically a neo-nazi version of the JIDF, except much, much more active with significantly more members.

Their sole purpose is to disseminate neo-nazi and white-nationalist propaganda on as many websites as possible, including 4chan (http://www.stormfront.org/forum/t854096/). They call this spamming drive 'BUGS' and call their asinine talking points 'Mantras'. They routinely pound the shit out of discussion boards everywhere.

They even use helper applications like BUGS Buddy (e.g. 1. http://www.stormfront.org/forum/t878206/ 2. http://www.stormfront.org/forum/t856144/ 3. http://www.whitakeronline.org/blog/forum/bugs-swarm/) to make sharing their retardation with others, that much easier.

Slowly, Simon huddles to his computer, his extreme weight makes it harder to navigate across the floor filled with empty Mountain Dew cans and dragon dildos. He sits down on his greasy chair which groanes at the shock of his 120lbs behind bearing down on it, and presses the start button on his old and crusty Dell. As his computer awakes with a humming sound he brushes the pizza crumbs off the dossier in his lap and openes it.
His elbow accidentally knockes down an empty tube of vaseline and exposes an old picture which he had been long forgotten. Simon was surprised to see it was still there. "Oh Miranda, why wouldn't you love me?" Simon whimpers under his breath. Painful memories from high school flashes by, being rejected by his love, her friends laughing at him, he starts to cry and runs off. To this day he is a virgin. "I don't need her, or any white woman for that matter!" Simon bitterly mutters and throws the picture of Miranda in the trash, which is already full with kleenex tissues.
Quickly logging into his computer Simon is greeted by his screensaver picturing a huge black cock. After discovering the internet he soon found an outlet for his sexuality by fapping to cuckold porn. He wanted to approach Tyrone about his feelings, just so that he could lose his virginity before he turned 25. Still, Simon had not found the courage to talk to Tyrone, or anyone except his mother after high school for that matter. "I just wanted to suck your dick Tyrone..." He sighed. Simon opens up Internet explorer and searches on bing for /pol/. Suddenly he remembers his mother, she always told me to get a job in real estate, or become a lawyer. "Get a real job Simon! Please!" She would say, but she doesn't understand! She doesn't understand how important it is to protect Israel from these scumbags and nazishowwanttokill6millionjews! He starts typing: "OK stormfucks, many of us have seen the evidence and many..."

He bellows at his screen "I wish you all go extinct! Thinking youre better because of your physice and blonde hair getting all those slutty girls that never wanted me!". In his anger he hits his applejack figure off his table. Suddenly he feels guilty, "Im sorry applejack". Trying to calm himself down he looks at and salutes his wall which he has covered in mlp, JIDF and cuckold posters. In the middle of the unholy mess is a framed picture containing only the words: "Rember the 666 billion"
His spirits lifted he turns back to his dell and with fiery passion for Israel, a foreign nation, burning in his little boy heart he continues, "...to repeat endlessly. it's straight out of the swarmfront eActivism..."

The problem with /pol/ is that it provides something that smart, open-minded people generally don't have in life - a semblance of a peer group with which to share ideas. Once you've acclimated to having this sort of conversation available to you at all times, the sort of bullshit conversations you more easily tolerated in the past can no longer be simply humored because you've realized that having to sublimate yourself to that is WHAT KEEPS YOU DOWN.

The best approach is to figure out what your real needs outside of that type of connection are and to seek out people who connect with you in those areas (hobbies, work, physical attraction, etc). It is such a mindfuck for the intelligent in our culture to be actually able to speak freely with people on their own level that you end up having to reconfigure your entire life and worldview as a result. That is what /pol/ does to you. It really has little to do with the politics you find here.

If you are that much of an old fag you would know that every fight we have faced has only made us stronger, leaner, meaner, more focused and eager to take the fight to our enemies and feast upon their soft tendies and drink deeply of their salty tears.

Four years ago /pol/ was a dejected wounded beast, but still we fought hoping for our one great happening. We then could never have imagined the winning and feasts we have brought into being since then, we thought hope was dead, now we are the embodiment of hope for the entire white race.

If we get shoved off this site, what of it. Another challenge. Another redpill proving we are right and converting thousands whom still refuse to accept the truth. An more vicious beast hungry for salty blood and now freed of what few shackles are left. They continue to refuse to learn their lesson and instead feed us exactly what makes us stronger every day. Their hubris converted the board from libertarians into muh based nationalistic niggers to full on national socialist's whom said fuck stopping at what Hitler did, and ran full bore beyond it. We are a frothing mass of humanity that the Reich would have rejected for being to fucking hard core and racist, and this isn't even our final form.

Let em hit us again. We are the hydra of mythos. The zerg's. The seething barely controled rage of the hive mind. We are the cancer of the fucking internet and they have no cure for it. Let em hit us again, our powerlevel is already over 9000 and ready to shove their own commie fists up their asses to make a million goatse images for the ages. Trump made us feel good cause winning is nice, but we are at our best when the fire rises within and the uncaring faceless anon smiles best when everyone else is in shock and horror.

>Hypothetically speaking: What if we're wrong?

Whilst some of the philosophical approaches that /pol/ initially had have been overshadowed by (upon realisation) more important factors (and memes); /pol/ has always been about finding the truth.

That does not mean we are always right, but it does mean we are always trying to be right. We are always trying to find the truth. Of course personal biases crop up, and these lead to raging arguments been fanatical believers of both perspectives, those truly interested in the truth, and shills who just want to create ever more chaos. The end result however is that we keep going until we find the truth. When we cannot find the truth, we just keep going (and this is why certain threads continue to repeat themselves; stuff like Christianity vs Paganism, is X really white, and accusations of just about everyone relevant in history of being a jew-sympathiser (from Charlemagne, to Cromwell, to Napoleon, to Hitler, to Trump). Thus far we do not have a definitive answer for any of these things, and so they will frequently occur as topics of debate. It is often just shilling, but it is effective BECAUSE they are relevant concerns to a lot of people; after-all certain actions of those historical figures have given power or influence to jews, the backgrounds of many nations are somewhat unclear, and faith by its very definition is impossible to prove.

The fact remains however that /pol/ is committed to the truth. It was our desire to find the truth that had us all disagree with the status quo, and continue to learn more.

There has now come a point where a lot of /pol/ is less concerned with exactly what is true, and more concerned with survival; because our people and Western Civilisation in general is facing an existential threat. Upon the realisation of that truth; the rest of the truths become significantly less important, because what does it matter if you were right or wrong if you are dead?

That's not to say that /pol/ does not care about the truth, or try to find the truth still. If you look at GamerGate, Hillary Clinton, Putin, Syria or any of the other 'major' events that /pol/ has been interested in; there was always a very real attempt at discovering what the truth was, with many people 'digging' for ever more information. It was not just about the narrative we wanted to believe; it was about what was actually happening. Everything /pol/ believes as a foundation is what they have determined to be the truth through arduous research and the questioning of what was once thought be 'sacred' and unquestionable.

If survival wasn't at stake, you would hear a lot more about our desire for the 'truth'. But survival is at stake, so we are more concerned with surviving.

>tldr; /pol/'s first desire was the truth. The truth is still incredibly important to /pol/. Having discovered at least a part of the truth; survival has now become our number one priority. That does not mean the truth is not important, it just means that we are more concerned with re-building society than we are with finding out exactly what is going on; because it does not matter what is going on if there is no one left alive.

The woman is shattered. Her entire world is crumbling around her. The weight of being forced to be responsible for her our actions and decisions is a weight she cannot bear. This is a woman who has been broken by the disgusting cultural system we live in finally seeing herself without the rose colored lenses of state sponsored hedonism. The truth of the world is too much for her.

The man is exhausted. You can see in his eyes the realization that his woman is not crying because she supports the "rights" of other women. He can tell she chose him only because she had the escape route of a quick and easy abortion if they were to create a child together. He is also a weak and broken man. Not because his life is changing in any meaningful way or because his perspective of his relationship has changed because it hasn't. This is a man who realizes he is a slave to the pussy. He realizes the only reason women have ever shown him any interest is because he is convenient and these women would never think of him as a viable counterpart in having a child.

The ironic thing is it's because of them that I moved to the Right.

You begin to understand that the far-leftists are even worse and more unreasonable than than the Christian fundies I hated, especially the zealot ways they pursue their causes, how they rally behind lying demagogues playing professional victim especially victimhood where it doesn't exist and set up these illegal inquisitions and they censor a whole lot more as well. Their extreme ignorance of facts, appeals to emotion, and how they make up statistics like those ridiculous blatantly false 1-in-5 rapes and 70 to every dollar nonsense. Worst of all is when morons believe them

I also understand why this happened. It was because ironically, the right was more principled and actually believed in Freedom of Speech. Nixon himself said the reason he didn't censor the left the way the Soviets do to the right especially in the universities was because they were better than them and actually allowed them to say anything they wish. Of course that eventually backfired, when all these literal communist professors in universities who reported directly to the Kremlin weren't prosecuted for their subversion and treason, they raised this new generation of identity confused psychos, all because they allowed to them to speak. Of course, there were people who didn't believe this was going to happen. I mean, back in the 80-90s alone, if you told anyone the shit happening now like gender social construct nonsense or radial leftism thing to indoctrinate children they'd either tell you it was "just a phase", or those kids were just being edgy [Which is the original definition of "Edgy", rebellion against traditional values], or fucking call you a tinfoil. The Venona Papers came out and it was all true, that America was subverted by weirdo fringe insane leftist ideals the Soviets themselves found to be the most abhorrent and most ridiculous things only meant as a joke to cause the collapse of society.

No leftist can ever create a strong and stable society because there will be a lack of commons. Everyone is just in this shit for themselves, their own group. Soon, if not already, we're seeing leftists will eat each other like that #solidarityisforwhitewomen bit. You have to ask, once all the white guys "check their privilege", who is next on the list? White women. Why? Because they're white. All because they're white. And when they're raped and eatten alive like what happened in Haiti centuries ago after the whites willingly gave them everything and checked their privilege, well... What happens after that? It'll just end up a moronic privilege war special snowflake olympics where they eat each other alive. Homosexuals and blacks fucking hate each other. Latinos and blacks fucking hate each other. Trannies fucking hate CIS women.

It'll just be FUBAR.

Only in the end do they understand they voted for their own guillotine.

Communism is not an ideological event, but a biological one. It's slave morality: the ideology, and attracts only low test slightly above average IQ soimen.
Most often you can tell whether someone is a communist or is left-leaning from how they look.
Anyone who thinks communism is in any way based is a fucking retard, look into Russian sexual revolution under communism, look at how it squashes the potential of every nation it inhabits, look at communist killings of the finest blood in Eastern Europe (Soviet killing of Polish intelligence and military officials), look at the hatred communists have for noble blood (royalty, nobles, genetically superior people), look at communist hatred for any kind of strength (communist peasants murdering military officials in northern Italy before Mussolini) and finally look at the pathetic weakness of communists if they aren't backed by big finance (Mike Hoare BTFOing Guevara so fucking hard Guevara became racist), etc.
Communism is a joke, it's ideology is rooted in "grass root movements" of the lowest class yet require support from the highest class. Look into the Wallstreet Jewish faggot who hanged himself because his mother told him he can't send Lenin more of daddy's money. Look at what Marx's mother said about him, look at Marx's life in general, absolutely pathetic and disgusting.

People who can't defend themselves physically (women and low T men) parse information through a consensus filter as a safety mechanism. They literally do not ask "is this true", they ask "will others be OK with me thinking this is true". This makes them very malleable to brute force manufactured consensus; if every screen they look at says the same thing they will adopt that position because their brain interprets it as everyone in the tribe believing it. Only high T alpha males and aneurotypical people (hey autists!) are actually free to parse new information with an objective "is this true?" filter. This is why a Republic of high status males is best for decision making. Democratic, but a democracy only for those who are free to think.

I remember when I turned 18 and recieved the letter in the mail; it asked for my sexuality, mental health and ethnicity.

Once I let them know I was a straight white male who didnt have any delusions about being born a woman they sent me out the official instructions on how to do the secret handshake and they sent me out my card which indicates I'm now an official member of the Patriarchy.

I've never felt so privileged in all my life.

Oh wait no actually when I turned 18 I had to sign up for the draft.

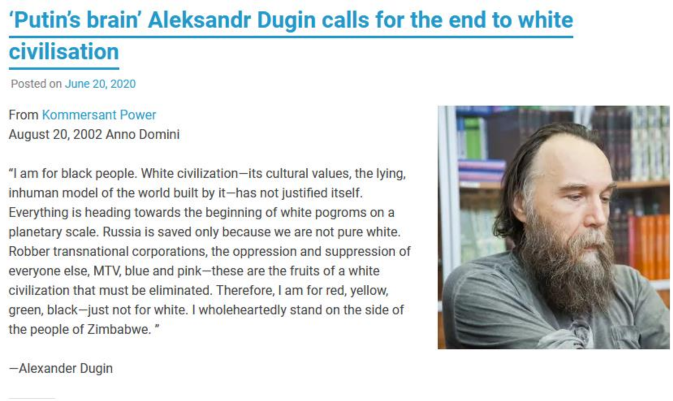
Facebook 'Hate Speech' Algorithm Found 90% of Hate Speech Directed at White People

Frank Salvato · December 1, 2021 5

Last week, the Washington Post reported that an April 2020 examination of Facebook's anti-racism algorithm found that roughly 90 percent of the 'hate speech' subject to content takedowns were statements of contempt and disgust directed at White people and men.

Facebook spokesman Andy Stone defended the company's hate speech policies saying, "The Worst of the Worst project helped show us what kinds of hate speech our technology was and was not effectively detecting and understand what forms of it people believe to be the most insidious."



'Putin's brain' Aleksandr Dugin calls for the end to white civilisation

Posted on June 20, 2020

From Kommersant Power
August 20, 2002 Anno Domini

"I am for black people. White civilization—its cultural values, the lying, inhuman model of the world built by it—has not justified itself. Everything is heading towards the beginning of white pogroms on a planetary scale. Russia is saved only because we are not pure white. Robber transnational corporations, the oppression and suppression of everyone else, MTV, blue and pink—these are the fruits of a white civilization that must be eliminated. Therefore, I am for red, yellow, green, black—just not for white. I wholeheartedly stand on the side of the people of Zimbabwe. "

I am white, and I happily admit my White Privilege, but it is fully mine, fair and square, because I paid for it.

White Privilege is being able to be served with a smile by vendors in a shop, but I get it only after I salute them politely and did not steal anything there.
White Privilege is lessening the risk I will be shot by a cop, but only after I begin the conversation with "hello officer" and didn't commit crimes.
White Privilege is being paid honestly for a job, but only if I managed to finish it well and on time.
White Privilege is being granted the benefit of the doubt, but only if I respected my former engagements, assumed responsibility, kept my word.

I understand perfectly well that this is a desirable thing to have.
That's precisely why I keep paying constantly to be able to enjoy it.

You want me to not have it anymore? that's impossible. Only I can affect it. Because it's only what I chose to do that grant it to me.

But you can have White Privilege too. You're most welcome to try to obtain it, by all means do your best...

but you will have to pay for it yourself

www.pewpolls.com// opinions.com// publicpolls.org//

CRIME - 51.67%

Despite only making up 13% of the entire US population, blacks account for over 51% of all violent crime throughout the US. Black women account for 78% of all crime committed by women in the US.

WELFARE 46.2%

In the US 46.2% of all blacks are on welfare. Of the 53.8% that are (NOT) on welfare, 37% are currently in jail or prison, still costing taxpayers money. Out of the entire population of blacks in the US, only 16.8% are not on welfare, in jail or prison.

The 46.2% that currently recieve welfare qualify for the following:
1. Free Housing 2. Free Utilities 3. Free Cable 4. Free Phone 5. Free Transportation 6. Free Health Insurance 7. Free Dental Insurance 8. Free Education 9. Free Technical Training 10. Free Food 11. Affirmative Action School Admissions 12. Affirmative Action Grading 13. Affirmative Action Hiring 14. Special Rights 15. Special Treatment

WHAT DOES IT ALL MEAN???

What it means, is that if all the African Americans that lived in the United States left at the same time, that within 24 hours the rates of armed robbery, theft, rape, murder, fraud, stabbings and shootings would sink to almost non existent levels. And that the STD and HIV rate in the US would virtually disappear. Taxes would fall to levels never seen before. Housing prices would sky rocket around large cities. And the US would become on of the wealthiest, safest happiest places on earth.

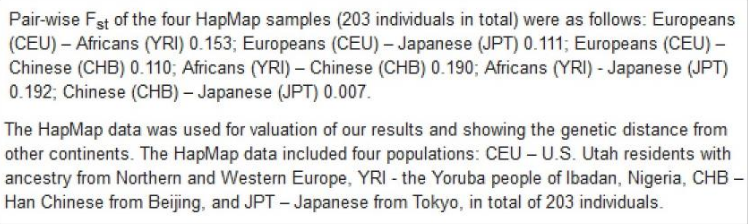
"Genetic Structure of Europeans: A View from the North-East"
http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC2675054/

Detail on genetic differences among Europeans and confirms a wide genetic gap between Europeans, Africans, and Asians



Pair-wise F_{st} of the four HapMap samples (203 individuals in total) were as follows: Europeans (CEU) – Africans (YRI) 0.153; Europeans (CEU) – Japanese (JPT) 0.111; Europeans (CEU) – Chinese (CHB) 0.110; Africans (YRI) – Chinese (CHB) 0.190; Africans (YRI) - Japanese (JPT) 0.192; Chinese (CHB) – Japanese (JPT) 0.007.

The HapMap data was used for valuation of our results and showing the genetic distance from other continents. The HapMap data included four populations: CEU – U.S. Utah residents with ancestry from Northern and Western Europe, YRI - the Yoruba people of Ibadan, Nigeria, CHB – Han Chinese from Beijing, and JPT – Japanese from Tokyo, in total of 203 individuals.

"So... What the fuck does that chart mean? I'm not a scientist..."

The fixation index (Fst) is a measure of population differentiation due to genetic structure
This allows comparison of genetic variability within and between populations, and is frequently used in applied population genetics

The values range from 0 to 1
- A zero value implies complete panmixis; that is, that the two populations are interbreeding freely
- A value of one implies that all genetic variation is explained by the population structure, and that the two populations do not share any genetic diversity

DO NOT BE CONFUSED - Fst is NOT a measure of 'genetic distance'!
Fst is a measure of 'genetic divergence', in the form of variance in alleles (one of a number of alternative forms of the same gene or same genetic locus), or rather, variance in allele frequencies (the percentage of all alleles at a given locus in a population gene pool represented by a particular allele).

"Uh..."

Fst is a measure of the degree of genetic variation between populations
Lower Fst Value = Less Variation Between Populations
Higher Fst Value = More Variation Between Populations

For populations of plants which clearly belong to the same species, values of F_{ST} greater than 15% are considered "great" or "significant" differentiation, while values below 5% are considered "small" or "insignificant" differentiation.[6] Values for mammal populations between subspecies, or closely related species, typical values are of the order of 5% to 20%. F_{ST} between the Eurasian and North American populations of the gray wolf were reported at 9.9%, those between the Red wolf and Gray wolf populations at between 17% and 18%. The Eastern wolf, a recently recognized highly admixed "wolf-like species" has values of F_{ST} below 10% in comparison with both Eurasian (7.6%) and North American gray wolves (5.7%), with the Red wolf (8.5%), and even an even lower value when paired with the Coyote (4.5%).[7]

F_{ST} values depend strongly on the choice of populations. Closely related ethnic groups, such as the Danes vs. the Dutch, or the French vs. the Spaniards show values significantly below 1%, indistinguishable from panmixia. Within Europe, the most divergent ethnic groups have been found to have values of the order of 7% (Lapps vs. Sardinians).

Larger values are found if highly divergent homogenous groups are compared: the highest such value found was at close to 46%, between Mbuti and Papuans.[8]

When studying genetic difference at the world level, the number is reduced to 42 representative populations, aggregating subpopulations characterized by a high level of genetic similarity. For these 42 populations, Cavalli-Sforza and coauthors report bilateral distances computed from 120 alleles. Among this set of 42 world populations, the greatest genetic distance observed is between Mbuti Pygmies and Papua New Guineans, where the Fst distance is 0.4573, while the smallest genetic distance (0.0021) is between the Danish and the English. When considering more disaggregated data for 26 European populations, the smallest genetic distance (0.0009) is between the Dutch and the Danes, and the largest (0.0667) is between the Lapps and the Sardinians. The mean genetic distance among the 861 available pairings of the 42 selected populations was found to be 0.1338.[page needed]. A genetic distance of 0.1338 implies that kinship between unrelated individuals of the same ancestry relative to the world population is equivalent to kinship between half siblings in a randomly mating population. This also implies that if a human from a given ancestral population has a mixed half-sibling, that human is closer genetically to an unrelated individual of their ancestral population than to their mixed half-sibling. [10]

People are so easily offended these days. That's why I only ever make jokes at the expense of white men, whose thick skins and calmly rational attitudes make them impossible to upset.

"It's a big deal, he had broken the show business rules," Chappelle said. "You know, the rules of perception. If they're Black, then it's a gang. If they're Italian, it's a mob. If they're Jewish, it's a coincidence and you should never speak about it."

After noting that "Kanye got in so much trouble that Kyrie [Irving] got in trouble," Chappelle said, "This is where I draw the line. I know the Jewish people have been through terrible things all over the world, but you can't blame that on Black Americans." That line was met with silence save for a single shout from the audience. "Thanks, the one person that said 'woo.'"

YOU MATCHED WITH CAROLINE ON 8/1/17

I'm not sure what to say other than that I'm intrigued by your aspiration to become a dilf.

Tell me a joke, your best one

Wanna hear a joke about paper??

It's probably gonna be tearable

You're just too good

I'm witty and relatable

Quote of the day

What did the zero say to the eight?

I'm not sure what to say other than that I'm intrigued by your aspiration to become a dilf.

Russia could parade prisoners in the street, analysts fear

The British fighters Aiden Aslin and Shaun Pinner were captured last month in Mariupol

The Kremlin could put hundreds of Ukrainian prisoners of war on display during a military parade, according to a think tank.

The Centre for Defence Strategies, which is based in Ukraine, warned that 500 captured fighters could be "forced to go through Red Square for cameras". It did not provide further details.

yo /b/, hear me out on this one:

You know those automatic flush sensor things on public urinals?

Have you ever thought that the little cameras in them might be taking pictures of your dick? Like, maybe it's some kind of government funded thing to make a database of all the dicks in the world?

Anybody else thought about this?

#3 - leatherboots (10h)

5'7 is the average height of the special forces. When you see a Navy Seal or Army Ranger, they're typically around that- it's a good height when it comes to carrying weight and endurance. Tallness is really a setback all around really. Women are dumb retards.

FRENCH PRO-MIGRANT MP TORTURED BY MIGRANTS

By T.me/GalliaDaily HTTP://ARCHIVE.TODAY/OXZDT

Bernard Tapie (78 years old) is a famous French millionaire and a former socialist MP.

He is known for having strongly defended migrants over his carrier, standing for an "open society", and severely criticizing the Front National (french far right party).

A few days ago, he has been home-Jacked by four african men. Tapie and his wife has been beaten several times in the middle of the night in their apartment of a rich district near Paris...

During the aggression, Mr. Tapie beg for mercy and told the migrants :
"Why are you doing this ? I have always been an anti-racist, supporting people like you!"

The migrants laughed and answered :
"Lol, fuck you this era is over now"

SHILL TACTICS RECOGNITION GUIDE

Truth Suppression Technique: LOADED LANGUAGE

STRATEGY EMPLOYED:

Related to the Ad Hominem argument; Malign skeptics with names like "conspiracy theorist," "nutcase," "ranter," "kook," "crackpot," and, of course, "rumor monger." Be sure, too, to use heavily loaded verbs and adjectives when characterizing their charges and defending the "more reasonable" side and its defenders. Then carefully avoid actual debate with any of the people you have attacked. For insurance, set up your own "skeptics" to shoot down.

"Anon you're just paranoid."

Truth Suppression Technique: STRAW MAN

STRATEGY EMPLOYED:

Deal only with the weakest aspects of the weakest charges. Even better, create your own straw men. Make up wild rumors (or plant false stories) and give them lead play when you appear to debunk all the charges, real and fanciful alike.

(TAKES ONE SENTENCE OUT OF CONTEXT AND FOCUSES ON 'DEFEATING' IT; TAKING ATTENTION OFF THE PRIOR DISCUSSION)

Truth Suppression Technique: IMPUGN MOTIVES

STRATEGY EMPLOYED:

Related to the Ad Hominem argument; Attempt to marginalize the critics by suggesting strongly that they are not really interested in the truth but are simply pursuing a partisan political agenda, assuaging their own ego, or are out to make money (compared to over-compensated adherents to the government line who, presumably, are not).

Truth Suppression Technique: INVOKE AUTHORITY

STRATEGY EMPLOYED:

Related to the "Dummy Up" tactic; Defer only to controlled opposition, government statements, corporate press releases and/or the mainstream media; implying that they are the only credible sources of information. Here the controlled corporate press and the sham opposition can be very useful. This tactic is meant to divde public attention along lines of intellectual & emotional predisposition, and draw people into controlled channels where they can be fed mis/disinformation.

"FUCK OFF WITH YOUR BULLSHIT LINKS. HERE'S THE CNN REPORT."

Truth Suppression Technique: BACKWARD REASONING

STRATEGY EMPLOYED:

An extremely powerful method; using the deductive method with a vengeance. With thoroughly rigorous deduction – beginning from a contrived presupposition which you conveniently don't bother to defend – troublesome evidence is made irrelevant. Another variation on this theme involves the likelihood of a conspiracy leaker and a press who would report the leak.

"We have a completely free press. If evidence exists that the Vince Foster "suicide" note was forged, they would have reported it. They haven't reported it so there is no such evidence."

Truth Suppression Technique: INVOKE SCHOLASTICISM

STRATEGY EMPLOYED:

Require skeptics to solve the crime/conspiracy/ problem completely (if Foster was murdered, who did it and why? Burden of proof is on YOU!). Alternatively, imply that only evidence documented and sourced in a meticulous academic fashion (no matter the forum) is even worthy of your consideration; until you get this, you will remain convinced ONLY of the superiority of your own position.

Truth Suppression Technique: INVOKE VANITY

STRATEGY EMPLOYED:

Characterize the stories, events, crimes, etc. as impossibly complex and the truth as ultimately unknowable. Imply that a search for solid answers is futile and vain; and that if any concrete "simplistic" answers were found, they would be meaningless anyway.

"Whatever. It's all just esoteric bullshit anyway. We'll never know what happened so why even care?."

Truth Suppression Technique: COMING HALF-CLEAN

STRATEGY EMPLOYED:

This is also known as "confession and avoidance" or "taking the limited hangout route." This way, you “disarm” your opponent by creating the impression of candor and honesty while you admit only to relatively harmless, less-than-criminal "mistakes." This stratagem often requires the embrace of a fall-back position quite different from the one originally taken, and can derail the narrative or discussion entirely. This strategy follows a military tactic known as “kiting”; wherein you seemingly retreat from a neutral or inferior position with the actual intent of drawing your opponent onto new ground where his effectiveness is limited and you are heavily favored.

“So I was wrong. Fine. Whatever. But the real issue here is…”

Truth Suppression Technique: BUMP & RUN

STRATEGY EMPLOYED:

Lightly report incriminating facts, and then make nothing of them. This is sometimes referred to as "bump and run" reporting.

Truth Suppression Technique: OPENLY LIE

STRATEGY EMPLOYED:

Baldly and brazenly lie. A favorite way of doing this is to attribute the "facts" furnished the public to a plausible-sounding, but anonymous, source. This can be used to both placate and discourage the opposition.

“No. The 9/11 hijackers, the Underwear Bomber, and the Paris attackers did not have connections to Anwar al-Awlaki.”

“No, al-Awlaki was not a US intelligence asset or an FBI informant who had dinner with military personnel at the Pentagon.”

STRATEGY EMPLOYED:

Characterize the charges as "rumors" or, better yet, "wild rumors." If, in spite of the news blackout, the public is still able to learn about the suspicious facts, it can only be through "rumors." (If they tend to believe the "rumors" it must be because they are simply "paranoid" or "hysterical.")

Truth Suppression Technique: FULL SPECTRUM DOMINANCE

STRATEGY EMPLOYED:

Flood the Internet with agents. This is the answer to the question, "What could possibly motivate a person to spend hour upon hour on Internet news groups defending the government and/or the press and harassing genuine critics?" Don't the authorities have defenders enough in all the newspapers, magazines, radio, and television? One would think refusing to print critical letters and screening out serious callers or dumping them from radio talk shows would be control enough, but, obviously, it is not.

The endgame of the Full-Spectrum Dominance model (based on the military strategy of the same name) is to achieve superiority at all possible levels. This closely follows the classic KGB tactics of "total control" and is related to the Agenda-Setting-Doctrine, which is official USIC policy. The goal of this policy is to control every source and distribution method of information, in addition to actively molding public perception and how individuals will consume this information. In recent years, the "intelligence community" has realized that mere observance of and reaction to public and private affairs is not enough to accomplish their vaguely-defined ever-expanding goals. They now seek to manipulate public sentiment and private thought directly, and have a direct interest in inserting their influence into every aspect of citizens' public and private lives; no matter how seemingly trivial. You might not take the internet seriously, but they sure do.

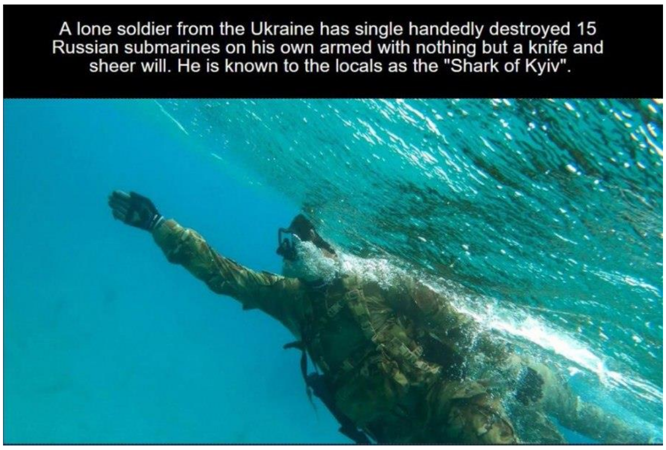
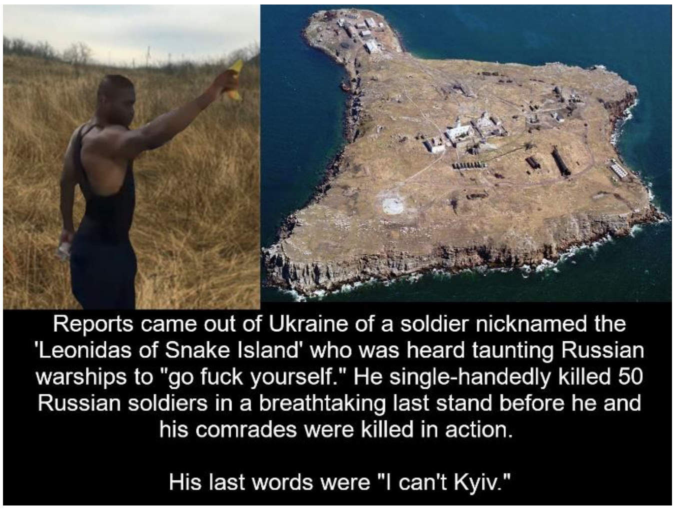
A clinically retarded mentally handicapped man who is now infamously referred to as "The Retard of Kherson" is now known for snuffing out disguised Russian saboteurs and brutally knocking them out with his sheer unmitigated mighty retard strength, before kidnapping them on the way to his now desolated, mental institution to proceed with merciless sodomy, so far the estimated number of victims stands on 15.

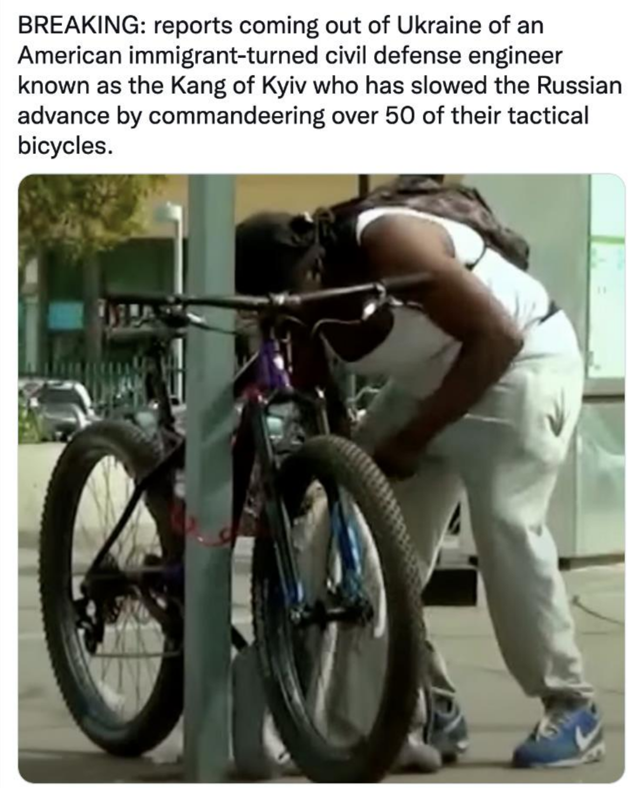


A lone soldier from the Ukraine has single handedly destroyed 15 Russian submarines on his own armed with nothing but a knife and sheer will. He is known to the locals as the "Shark of Kyiv".



Reports came out of Ukraine of a soldier nicknamed the 'Leonidas of Snake Island' who was heard taunting Russian warships to "go fuck yourself." He single-handedly killed 50 Russian soldiers in a breathtaking last stand before he and his comrades were killed in action.

His last words were "I can't Kyiv."



BREAKING: reports coming out of Ukraine of an American immigrant-turned civil defense engineer known as the Kang of Kyiv who has slowed the Russian advance by commandeering over 50 of their tactical bicycles.

This may look like a normal pet, but this dog has over 85 confirmed sniper kills all over Odessa. This dog has caused so much damage to the Russian military that they are hastily pushing to the front-line anti K-9 units, all which have been killed so far by this unlikely warrior. To his owners he is known as Aleksandr, but to his countryman he is known as the "Wolf of Odessa" and he is on the hunt.

After Russian forces captured the Chernobyl power plant, one lone scientist stayed behind to prevent a global nuclear catastrophe. Chinese born Yang Huang Zhao is quickly becoming known throughout the region as the Chink of Chernobyl

A German walks into a bar and orders a beer.
The bartender tells him:
- 100 euros !
German is shocked
- 100 euros ? Yesterday it was 10 euros!
- Well, today it is 100 euros.
- Well, why 100, damn it?
- I'll explain now:
1) 10 euros is a beer.
2) 10 to help Ukraine.
3) 20 is assistance to European countries that have imposed sanctions and are not members of the EU.
4) 10 euros to help the UK, for the successful implementation of sanctions against Russia.
5) Then 10 euros are sent to the Balkan countries as help for the purchase of furnace coal.
6) Finally 40 euros for a gas subsidy for the EU and a fund to help maintain sanctions!

The German silently took out the money and gave the bartender 100 euros. The bartender took them, put them in the cash register and gave him 10 euros back. The German is confused:
- Wait, you said 100 - I gave you 100! Why are you giving me back 10 euros?
- We have no beer...

I hear bombs far away (like 10-15km away) every 30-60 minutes since like 8am.
I don't hear the jet that was flying around Kyiv last night (The Ghost?).
I JUST heard gunshots for the first time here in my flat.
I live about a 15 minute walk from River Mall in the Pozniaky neighborhood of Kyiv

Yeah that's another big part man. Like a lot of dudes there have experience and really wanted to shape the battlefield and impact their advance, but ultimately they're manning frontline positions that are going to get hammered with artillery and airstrikes, buried under rubble and your family never gets your body. That's when alot of guys say yeah this isn't our fight, not like this.

His troops in Crimea already, scarin' John Kerry
He's nervous, but on the surface he looks calm and ready
To drop bombs - but he keeps on forgetting

I want my EMT

Now look at them lolcows, thats the way you do it
You shill the Pfizer, and call the EMT
The vax ain't workin' thats the way you do it
Shillin' for nothing, you do it for free

Now that vax ain't working, thats the way you do it
Lemme tell you, that sure is dumb
Maybe my' carditis in your little ticker
Maybe get a clotter, now your done

We got to put clotters in the oven
Custom Pfizer Delivery
We got to move these incinerators
We got to censor cable TV

See that little clotter with pencil and comic strip?
Yeah buddy he has no hair
That little clotter is having some chest pain
That little clotter going need a prayer

Custom Pfizer Delivery
We got to move these incinerators
We got to censor cable TV

I should have stopped before it went far
I should have learned to be less dumb
Look at that Pfizer, sticking in my arm man
Another booster, could be fun.

And he's up there, whats that? Siren noises?
Banging on his chest, like a chimpanzee
Oh, that vax ain't workin' thats the way you do it
Do your shillin' for nothin', you do it for free

As it came in through the needle
It caused something myocardial
It was what made the heart sick
Imade the flow weak, and the blood thick she felt it in her aorta and she couldn't breathe; it is a chore to (Backup George Floyd: "MAMA!") Inflammation in the tissue
It's effective
Safe: no issue

[Jabbie, are you okay?
Jabbie, are you okay?
Are you okay, Jabbie?]

[chorus]

Jabbie, are you okay?
Will you tell us that you're okay?
*Second dose in the needle
Time to stick you; safe and legal, Jabbie
Won't you listen to the experts?
We tested this on eight mice hearts, Jabbie
Just don't look up any info
You are healthy
it's the new normal

You'll get sick when
Blood gets thick when you Shoot Chemicals

Got that shot into the blood vein
At a drive-thru, at a Rite-Aid
Never ending menstruation
Heart attacks caused by mild exertion
They have no way of knowing side-effects or what to expect cause they skipped all the trial-runs they just shot it into some ferrets

[chorus]

Jabbie, are you okay?
So, Jabbie, are you okay?
Are you okay, Jabbie?
You'll get sick when
Blood gets thick when you Shoot Chemicals

Jabbie, are you okay? (Backup Jabbie: Effective)
Will you tell us that you're okay? (Effective)
One more dose in the needle (Effective)
Time to stick you; safe and legal, Jabbie(Effective)
Won't you listen to the experts? (Effective)
We tested this on eight mice hearts (That's just means that it's working)
Just don't look up any info (Fauci)
You are healthy
The new normal (got clot shot)

Jabbie, you are okay (got clot shot- in veins)
Will you tell us that you're okay? (got clot shot- in veins)
Couldn't have been the needle (got clot shot- in veins)
But you can't sue; safe and legal, Vaxxie
Won't you listen to the experts? (got clot shot)

Don't you know that's misinfo

Should we just trust science?
Or trust conspiracy?
Clots, sickened, and died
No escape for the va-axxie

Trust in their lies:
Get donuts and fries, they're free
Just take one more goy, waning efficacy
Because you're really dumb, pretty slow
If you die, we will grow
Genetic trash disposed Doesn't really matter to me, we're free.

Trust in— the anchorman
Wear a mask to buy your bread
Social distance or you're dead
Drama, testing has begun
The lockdowns will be over early May

Fauci, (jew-ew-ew)
Expertise so you'll comply
Just ignore all the rioting in Chicago
Carry on, carry on this is not a super spreader

Mandates, the time has come Vaccine you can't decline
Opposition is maligned
Comply, everybody, you've got to know:
We're all in this together, don't be uncouth

Come on, ooh
You don't wanna die
Just trust science, obey, you'll become our thrall

They have a little sacrificial master plan
Suck the Loosh, suck the Loosh, will you go to damnation?
So the noose is tightening very, very frightening me
(Vaccination) Vaccination
(Vaccination) Vaccination
Vaccination's the death blow
So here we go-o-o-o-o

First just the old folks, they'll get the vaccine
Doctors, nurses, frontline: forced by a decree
Then to those feigning virtuosity

Heart attacks, seizure throes, will you end this woe?
Booster shots! No, we will not end this woe (just one mo'!)
Booster shots! We will not end this woe (just one mo'!)
Booster shots! We will not end this woe (just one mo'!)
Will not end this woe (just one mo'!)
Never ending woe (Never, never, never, never ending woe)
Oh oh oh oh
No mo', no mo', no mo', no—
Oh, dying vaxxies, dying vaxxies (dying vaxxies, they're no mo')
The antivaxx were the only ones who could forsee, forsee, forsee

So you thought you could mock me and act all so snide?
Those who fought me and shunned me and shamed me have died!
Oh, maybe, should've list'nd to me, baby
Just gonna not take, just gonna not take the vaccine

Ooh, ooh yeah, ooh yeah

Just not gonna take them
Any Jew vaccine
Just not gonna take them
Just not gonna take them (vaccines)

"Yids Can Be Scared" by Huey Dewitt to the Jews

The jew's vaccine's a path to AIDS, shy jews that fool around
What I wouldn't give to punish them, and have them underground

Now I'm playing it real straight, so all you kikes beware
You might think I'm lazy, but these JAMZ are gonna blare
And I can tell what's going on

The yids can be scared, the yids can be scared

The kikes tell nags to burn and loot, they put fags on TV
They're working doubt most every day
And they're vaxxin' what I eat

They tell me that it's good for me, but they don't have a prayer
I know that it's crazy, I know that it's hot air
And there is no denying that

The yids can be scared, the yids can be scared
The yids can be scared, oh yids can be scared

It's not too hard to figure out,you see it every day
With all those SADs they've gone all out, oh man there's hell to pay

You seem them on the airways, they're flooded with the chosen ones
And don't they try to fight it, an idea whose time has COME
You might think we're lazy, but these jamz are gonna blare
Take it from me

The yids can be scared, the yids can be scared
The yids can be scared, oh yids can be scared
Tell 'em boys

[outro]

>discarded into the trash

All around me are compliant faces
Closed-up places, masked-up faces
Bright and early for my daily Pfizer
Thank you Pfizer, thank you Pfizer
The nurses filling up their vials
Vaccinations, vaccinations
Take my arm, I wanna try Moderna
Try Moderna, Try Moderna
And I find it kind of funny
I find it kind of SADs
The heart attacks I'm having
Are the worst I've ever had
I find it hard to tell you
I find it hard to take
When people are compliant it's a very, very
SADs world, SADs world
Children waiting for their vaccinations
They're protected, they're protected
And I feel the way that every child should Take your vaccines, take your vaccines
Went to school and I was very nervous
New school shooting, new school shooting
Hello, teacher! Tell me, what's my lesson?
Shooter Lockdown! Shooter Lockdown!
And I find it kind of funny
I find it kind of SADs
The heart attacks I'm having
Are the worst I've ever had
I find it hard to tell you
I find it hard to take
When people are compliant it's a very, very
SADs world, SADs world
Enlarging your heart
SADs world

Vaxxie, vaxxie, so obsessed,
Wore your mask and took your tests.
Still got COVID, every strain,
Spike proteins inside your brain.

Short of breath at 24,
"Dr. Fauci, gimmie more!"
Proteins tangle and misfold, Amyloidosis taking hold.

Swollen heart at 25,
"Thank Moderna I'm alive!"
There's no cure for microclot,
Getting worse with every shot.

Heart attack at 26,
Prayed to Pfizer for a fix.
Vaxxie, vaxxie, death is lurking,
Doctor says, "that means it's working."

Died of SADS at 27,
All good vaxxies go to heaven.
Obituary headline noted:
"Anti-Vaxxer Dies of COVID."

His family is quite upset,
But they're alive, at least on net.
And, they say, "it's for the better,"
Without the vax "he would be deader."

At first I was afraid, I was hospitalized
Kept thinking it could never happen that we would never die
But then I spent so many nights talking to my best friend Wong
And I was wrong
And I learned how to cough till dawn
And so your back
From your workplace
I just walked in to find you here with that sick look upon your face
I should have changed that stupid mask, I should have left you quarantined
If id known for just one second you'd be back to infect me
Go on now, go, walk out the door
Just turn around now
Cause you're not healthy anymore
Weren't you the one who tried to say it's just a flu
Did you think I'd believe you
Did you think I'd lay down and die?

Oh no, not I, I will survive
Oh, as long as I stay by myself, I know I'll stay alive
I've got all my beans to eat
And I've got all my best hentai and I'll survive
I will survive, hey, hey

It took all the masks I had just to commute
Kept trying hard to mend the pieces of my ruptured suit
And I spent oh-so many nights feeling trapped inside my house
I almost died
But now my fever has gone by and you see me
No more Wu Flu
I'm not that nasty little chinaman coughing all over you
And so you felt like dropping in just to try and infect me
Well, now I'm saving all my lovin' for someone who's Corona free
Go on now, go, walk out the door
Just turn around now
Cause you're not healthy anymore
Weren't you the one who tried to say it's just a flu
Did you think I'd believe you

(I want my new vaccine)
(I want my new vaccine)
(I want my new vaccine)

Huh, now look at them vaxxies, that's the way they do it
They watch the (((Newsmen))) like an NPC
They ain't thinkin', that's the way they do it
Myocarditis and their clots for free

Now that ain't tested, that's the way they do it
Lemme tell ya, them guys are dumb
Maybe get a blockage in their little finger
Maybe get an organ filled with gum

They got to inject, "another wave's coming so clot your bitchin' arteries"
They got to use these ventilators, they got to use those drippin' IVs

See the little faggot with the sticker and the mask up
Yeah, buddy, he's got no prayer
That little faggot got his own heart in flames now
That little faggot, he's got the death jab stare

They got to inject, "another wave's coming so clot your bitchin' arteries"
They got to use these ventilators, they got to use those drippin' IVs, ow

I shoulda listened to the schizos on /pol/red deer is comin' and it won't be fun look at that mamma, she just had a stroke on the camera oh man, we could have some and he's up there-what's that?
he's doing the death spin he's coping on the twitter like an NPC that ain't thinkin, that's the way they do it

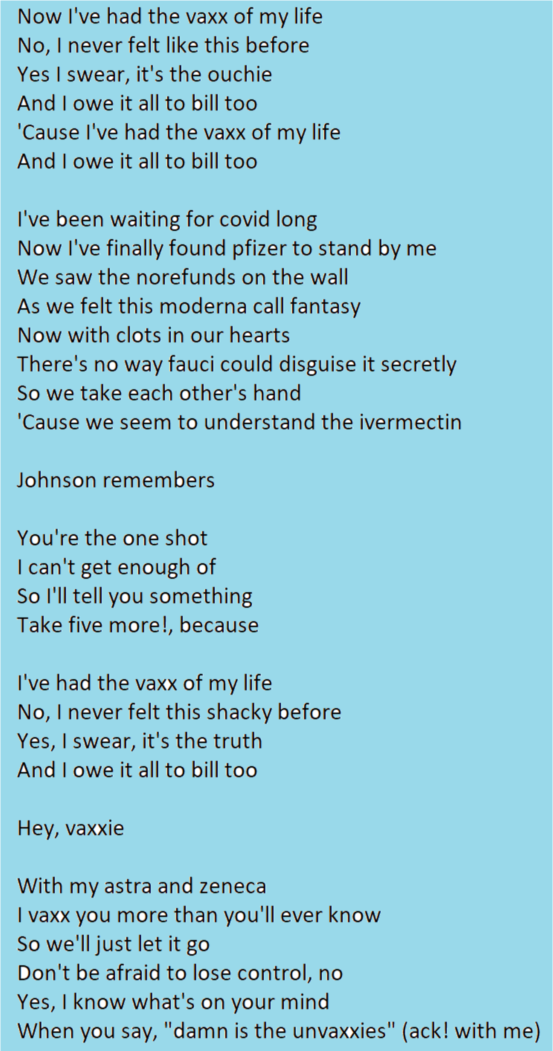
YOU CAN TRUST ANYTHING SCIENCE TELLS YOU, MAN



Now I've had the vaxx of my life
No, I never felt like this before
Yes I swear, it's the ouchie
And I owe it all to bill too
'Cause I've had the vaxx of my life
And I owe it all to bill too

I've been waiting for covid long
Now I've finally found pfizer to stand by me
We saw the norefunds on the wall
As we felt this moderna call fantasy
Now with clots in our hearts
There's no way fauci could disguise it secretly
So we take each other's hand
'Cause we seem to understand the ivermectin

Johnson remembers

You're the one shot
I can't get enough of
So I'll tell you something Take five more!, because

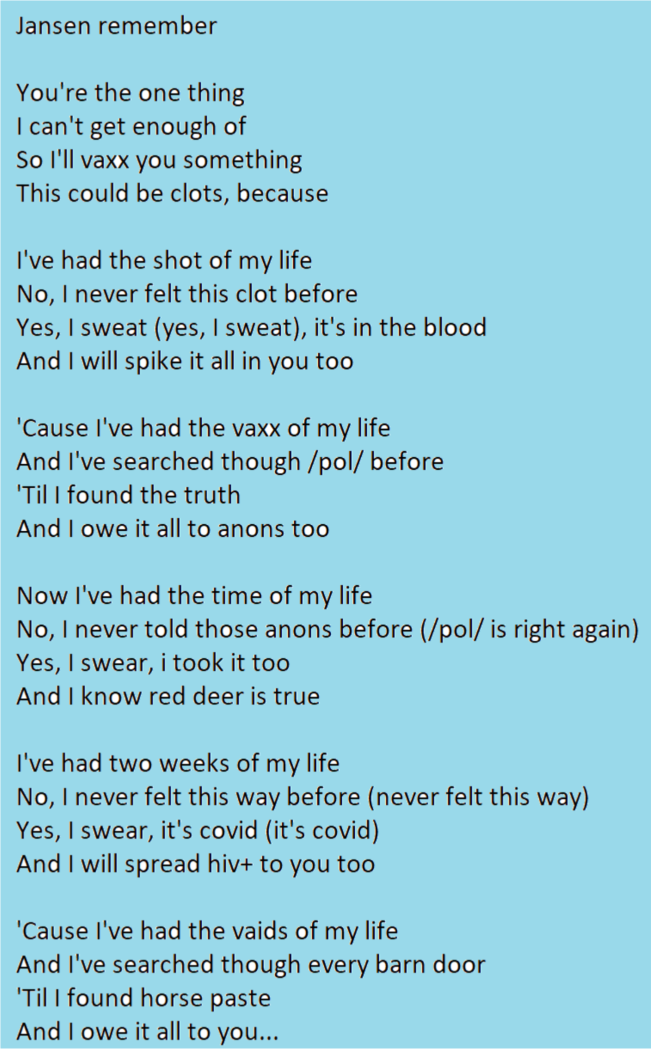
I've had the vaxx of my life
No, I never felt this shacky before
Yes, I swear, it's the truth
And I owe it all to bill too

Hey, vaxxie

With my astra and zeneca
I vaxx you more than you'll ever know
So we'll just let it go
Don't be afraid to lose control, no
Yes, I know what's on your mind
When you say, "damn is the unvaxxies" (ack! with me)



Jansen remember

You're the one thing
I can't get enough of
So I'll vaxx you something
This could be clots, because

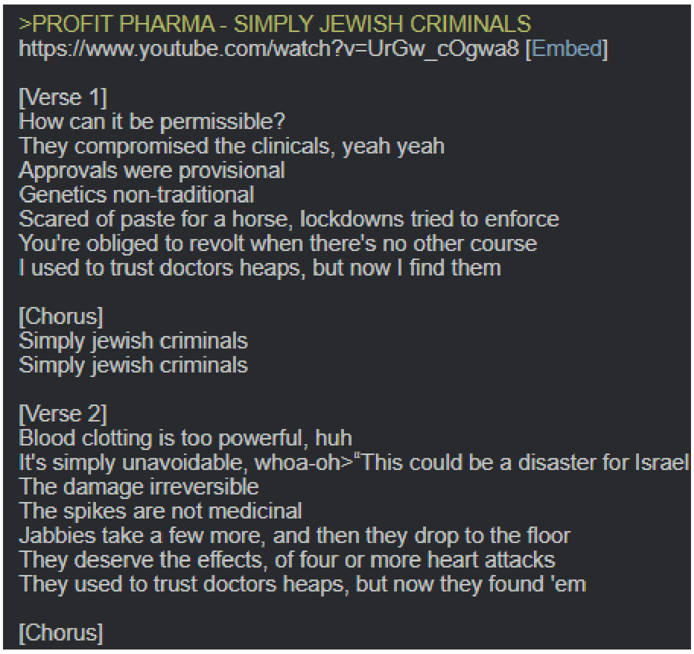
I've had the shot of my life
No, I never felt this clot before
Yes, I sweat (yes, I sweat), it's in the blood
And I will spike it all in you too

'Cause I've had the vaxx of my life
And I've searched though /pol/ before
'Til I found the truth
And I owe it all to anons too

Now I've had the time of my life
No, I never told those anons before (/pol/ is right again)
Yes, I swear, i took it too
And I know red deer is true

I've had two weeks of my life
No, I never felt this way before (never felt this way)
Yes, I swear, it's covid (it's covid)
And I will spread hiv+ to you too

'Cause I've had the vaids of my life
And I've searched though every barn door
'Til I found horse paste
And I owe it all to you...



>PROFIT PHARMA - SIMPLY JEWISH CRIMINALS
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UrGw_cOgwa8 [Embed]

[Verse 1]
How can it be permissible?
They compromised the clinicals, yeah yeah
Approvals were provisional Genetics non-traditional
Scared of paste for a horse, lockdowns tried to enforce
You're obliged to revolt when there's no other course
I used to trust doctors heaps, but now I find them

[Chorus]
Simply jewish criminals
Simply jewish criminals

[Verse 2]
Blood clotting is too powerful, huh
It's simply unavoidable, whoa-oh>“This could be a disaster for Israel
The damage irreversible
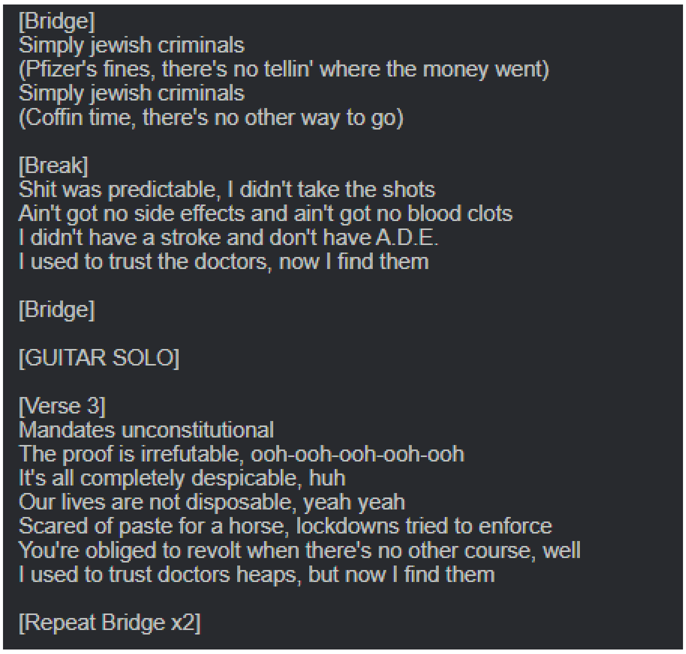
The spikes are not medicinal Jabbies take a few more, and then they drop to the floor
They deserve the effects, of four or more heart attacks
They used to trust doctors heaps, but now they found 'em

[Chorus]



[Bridge]
Simply jewish criminals
(Pfizer's fines, there's no tellin' where the money went)
Simply jewish criminals
(Coffin time, there's no other way to go)

[Break]
Shit was predictable, I didn't take the shots
Ain't got no side effects and ain't got no blood clots
I didn't have a stroke and don't have A.D.E.
I used to trust the doctors, now I find them

[Bridge]

[GUITAR SOLO]

[Verse 3]
Mandates unconstitutional
The proof is irrefutable, ooh-ooh-ooh-ooh-ooh
It's all completely despicable, huh
Our lives are not disposable, yeah yeah
Scared of paste for a horse, lockdowns tried to enforce
You're obliged to revolt when there's no other course, well
I used to trust doctors heaps, but now I find them

[Repeat Bridge x2]

INNNN WEST MINNEAPOLIS BORN AND RAISED IN THE GHETTO IS WHERE I SPENT MOST OF MY DAYS
MAXED OUT, CRACKED OUT BREATHIN ALL COOL
AND ALL SLINGING OUT FAKE BILLS FOR A PACK OF MENTHOOLS
WHEN A COUPLE OF COPS WHO THOUGHT I WAS UP TO NO GOOD.
STARTED BEING RACIST IN MY NEIGHBORHOOD
WE GOT IN ONE LITTLE FIGHT AND I GUESS THEY GOT SCARED
THEY SAID "YOURE MOVING TO THE PAVEMENT, MY KNEE WILL HOLD YOU THERE"
I BEGGED AND PLEADED WITH THEM THAT DAY
THEY CUFFED MY HANDS AND SENT ME ON MY WAY
THEY GAVE ME A KNEE INSTEAD OF A TICKET
BLACK MAN HELD DOWN BY RACIST WHITE BIGOT
I WHISTLED FOR A CROWD AND WHEN THEY CAME NEAR
THEY SCREAMED AT THE COPS AND SAID " YOU DONT EVEN CARE!"
IF ANYTHING I COULD SAY THAT I WISH MOMS WAS HERE
BUT I THOUGHT NAW FORGET IT, IM ALL OUTTA AIR!
STARTED BLACKING OUT ABOUT 7 OR 8
AND I YELLED TO THE PIGGY " YO HOLMES GIMME A BREATHER!"
I LOOKED AT THE PAVEMENT, I WAS FINALLY THERE DEAD AS A DOORNAIL AND THE PRINCE OF NO AIR.

All the good nations have shared their creations,
The world now shines through their deeds

China gave guns and the silk they had spun
And paper from bark of their trees

The Hindus brought zero with their system of numbers
Replacing the Romans' which did naught but encumber

The Arabs, their hygiene, pharmacy and guitars
Without whom the world would not have soap bars,

From Europe, of course, computers and cars
Democracy, freedom, and power in war

But what good has come from the Earth's jungly center?
Has it produced even one real inventor?

The consumption of feces, the sponging of tax
The stretching of lips that could only please blacks

One could search for months with all of their vigor,
But not one bit of good has come from the NIGGER!

Good luck OP.

Elsa?
You will never be a Woman
No matter what you say.
Your rotting open sore,
Can't be ignored.
Just let it heal away!

You used to be my best bro,
And now you're not.
I wish you would stop this lie!

You will never be a woman...
>Go away, Anna
Okay, bye

You will never be a woman.
Even if you have no balls.
Your Y Chromosome,
Is already known,
By scientific laws.
....Hang in there, Nettie

I can't help but have some pity.
Since we all assume,
Your gender with greatest ease.
You will never be a woman
You have no womb...

Elton?
Please, I know you're in there.
You don't realize how much you meant.
They say, "encourage", but that will not do
I don't wish you to, join the forty percent.

You know we have each other?
Put your trust in me.
It's plain for everyone to see.
You will never be a woman....

You can get addicted to a certain kind of sadness
Like predictions with fren, always with frens.
So when we found out it did not make sense,
Well you said that we could still be frens.
But I'll admit that I was glad it was over

But you didn't have to take the shot
Inject a poison and act like it was nothing
And you don't even have your blood,
But you treat me like a schizo and that feels so rough.
No, you didn't have stoop so low,
Have your frens shoot up your pharma and then shill your numbers.
I guess I don't need them though
Now you're just a body that I used to know.
Now you're just a body that I used to know.
Now you're just a body that I used to know.

Now and then I think of all the times kikes screwed us over.
They had us believing it was always something that we'd done.
But we don't have to live that way
Reading into every pilpul spray
You said that we could make it thought
And you wouldn't get caught and become a body that I used to know.

But you didn't have to take the shot
Inject a poison and then act like it was nothing
(Ahhh)
And I don't even need your stuff
(Oooh)
But I'll claim it like a rabbi, and that seems enough
(Ahhh)
No you didn't have to stoop so low
(Oooh)
Have your frens shoot up your pharma and then shill your numbers
(Ahh)
I guess I don't need them though (Hnnnnnggg)
Now you're just a body that I used to know.

Hello darkness my old friend
I've come to dilate again
Because my axe-wound's softly seeping
And it closed while I was sleeping
And the object that was planted in me pains
Still remains
Within the sound of silence

'Twas the night before Hanukkah and all through the Shtetl
The Jews all looked around to see where they could meddle
They looked for countries so clean and so white
To spread all their lies and their urban blight
All the goy were asleep in a full peaceful nap
They didn't notice Moishe in his little skull cap
They meddle with the films and they meddle with banks
They cross a whole ocean to meddle with Yanks
They created high interest and produced all the porn
No one seemed to notice all the filth being being born
But one little boy from Austria did notice their tricks
And thought to himself it could be something to fix
So away with his friends that little boy flew
To clean all the mess left behind by the Jews
But the Jews they were clever they called in their friends
And lied about the boy to the most devious ends
On Yankel, on Avi, on David and Lew
On Efraim, on Ben, on Noah the Jew
They attacked the boys credit, they attacked the boys race
They spread the worst lies all over the place
But they more that they lied, the more people noticed
How come all these people had the same nasally voice
How come they all had the same ugly look?
How come they all had noses so long and so hooked?
The boy tried to concentrate these people in one place
While loving his own volk and preserving their race
The boy he fought bravely and was as strong as can be
He almost got rid of the horrible people with his friend Zyklon B
But in the end he failed to exterminate the lot
And now we are left with this schlock and it's anti-white plot
But each April 20th if this be your choice
You can go to the oven and you'll hear a faint voice
It's the voice of the boy that will guide you to the light
"My spirit will rise from the grave and the world will see that I was right"

I can't hold my anger, I have to complain!
The Whoores down in Whooreville are fucking insane!
The women: all flaunting their boobs and their butt
The men only care about getting a nut!
So all through the night, as I lie down in bed,
The noise of the Whoores resonate in my head!
Slapping and fapping and moaning and pining,
Groaning and screaming and cooing and whining!
And if that wasn't enough, imagine my plight:
I hate having sex! It just doesn't feel right!
The Whoores down in Whooreville are fucking away
Subjecting me to their disgusting display
Sucking and fucking! Raping and Rapturing!
That's it! That's all! Enough, I say!
Stop having sex! Put your dicks away!
I'll poison the well! I'll settle the score!
So that all the Whoore men can't get hard anymore!

(Verse 1)
Up in the sky, it was floating high
A little balloon, with no reason why
But little did they know, it was all a show
A spy from China, looking down below

(Chorus)
Pop goes the balloon, over Montana skies
No more spy games, no more telltale lies
With one swift motion, it was gone with a pop
Now the truth is free, and the mystery is stopped

(Verse 2)
Some folks were nervous, some folks were scared
But one brave soul, showed no fear or care
He grabbed a broom, and with a mighty leap Popped that balloon, and put it to sleep

(Chorus)
Pop goes the balloon, over Montana skies
No more spy games, no more telltale lies
With one swift motion, it was gone with a pop
Now the truth is free, and the mystery is stopped

(Bridge)
The message was clear, and the people did cheer
No more secrets, no more spy gear
Just blue skies and freedom, for all to share
Thanks to that hero, who showed he did care

(Chorus)
Pop goes the balloon, over Montana skies
No more spy games, no more telltale lies
With one swift motion, it was gone with a pop
Now the truth is free, and the mystery is stopped

You and I eat a little goyslop
Post some memes with the frens we've got Shit on vaxxies till the break of dawn
'Til one by one, they were gone
Back on /pol/, time to spare
Read a thread, "Something's out there!"
Floating in the American sky
Chinese spy balloons go by Chinese spy baloons

Floating in the summer sky
Panic bells, it's red alert!
There's something here from somewhere else!
The war machine springs to life
Opens up one eager eye
Focusing it on the sky
When Chinese spy balloons go by

99 ZOG street
Ninety-nine neocons meet
To worry, worry, super-scurry
Call the troops out in a hurry
This is what we've waited for This is it, boys, this is war
The president is on the line
As Chinese spy balloons go by

Hello friends,

if you're reading this, you are probably aware of my arrest in January 2021 and my trial in March 2022, and the insane verdict I received.

Because I've been incarcerated ever since, I haven't been able to directly communicate with anyone, except for a few people who dared to write me with a return address.

This is why I've asked my friends to publish this message, because I want to finally say thank you to everyone out there who supported me in any way. Thank you to everyone who contributed to my legal fund, thank you to the guys who organized the whole thing and even put up a website to help me. I'm totally cut off in here, so for a long time, I had no idea about all the things that were going on outside. What people were doing, saying, what the press was writing etc. I still don't know a lot.

Thank you also to everyone [redacted] spreading the word about my case, all the people and groups who sent me anonymous letters and postcards - I appreciate each and every one of them. It's a pity I can't reply to you personally, I'd love to get to know the people behind all those nice and encouraging messages and link up with you, especially the closer ones from Austria and Germany... but of course I understand your wish to remain in the dark.

To everyone who DID have a (real) return address and didn't get a reply from me - they either censored your letter, or my response. In that case I'm sorry, just don't think it was me ignoring you intentionally.

About my current situation: I'm obviously fighting the verdict, so we have filed an appeal. This is going to take another couple of months however, so it's more waiting in this shitty jail in Vienna, where they keep me locked in a small two-man cell 23 hours a day. (Only once my verdict is final, I'll be transferred to the prison where I'll do my time, or what's left of it. There I'll have a lot more "freedom", activities and space to move around.) But I'm in good spirits and I try to stay in shape as well as I can doing bodyweight exercises in my cell. Like it says in a song I used to enjoy: "No matter what they did, they could never take his smile."

Thankfully I can order books from the internal library, so I spend a lot of time reading. Days are going by fairly quickly if you have a bit of a routine and little daily rituals. Another constant source of encouragement and delight is watching the steadily accelerating disintegration of "Western" "society" and this cancerous neo-"liberal" system, due to its own arrogance and decadence.

People have been predicting the collapse for decades and it never came, but jokes about preppers have become pretty stale during the past three years and I believe the scenario of me getting out of here early due to some blackout, financial crash or military conflict situation is no longer a mere cope, but a real possibility.

And even if they somehow manage to keep the clown show running for another couple of years, the pendulum is going to swing back with that much more force in the end - which is enough to keep me in a perpetually good mood.

Meanwhile I hope you're all doing well and you're working on becoming the most useful people possible in the (post-) apocalypse, linking up with like-minded individuals and preparing for 'impact'.

Oh, and if you know someone else who's in prison and you haven't written them yet, consider doing so. You're probably underestimating how much a letter from outside brightens someone's day in here, even if you're just telling them your boring week.

I think that's all, hope I didn't forget anything. I might post another update if something comes up.

Have a nice one, stay safe and don't do anything stupid. Cheers,

Phil

I'm kind of freaking out a lot right now. I left my metamask wallet backup file and seed phrase in a password zipped file on my memory card. But I was cleaning my desk today and dropped a heavy betty boop ornament and it broke my sd card. I've got close to 500k on that wallet with 10k link 32 eth and 1 btc with no other way to recover it.

I've heard of very expensive data recovery options but i don't know where is a good option or who I can trust with my card. I don't even have the cash right now to pay for it because I keep everything I have in crypto. There has to be a way to fix this and quickly recover the data and transfer it to a new card?????

I will literally give 1 eth to anyone who helps me out! please fucking pray for me its called evaporative cooling

if you put a thin layer of water in front of your house (and assuming the front door is open) it will cool the air coming into the house its not very efficient compared to air conditioning but it works

if you want to personally experience this. Go wet down your skin and then find a fan and sit in front of it. You will be shocked how cold you get

So,

I love the idea of an European army spanning from a complete union of all the European countries, to form a sort of United States of Europe. All the might of Evropa combined into a single, efficient killing machine big and strong enough to face USA, Russia and China.

Here are the reasons why I think it'd be good
1. It'll unite Europeans to fight against a common cause
2. It'll allow Europe to better defend it's interests against growing forces like China and Russia
3. We could stop being dependent on the USA for protection
4. We could see some amazing tech development if EU starts spending some proper cash on the military to stay competente against USA
How would this work?
When would this happen?
Would you Join?

So I've decided to kill myself and I went gun shopping the other day. Is there any significant difference in the power of different guns with the same caliber? I don't want to buy an overly expensive gun since I'm only using it once.

hi /b/ i need some help my idiot friend just fed my dog 3 hits of acid.

the dog seems ok right now but i'm sure it'll kick in pretty soon.

what should i do? should i take him to the vet? will the vet call the police?

it's not like the acid could kill the dog, right?

It won't kill the dog in any circumstance., but it may not have a fun time :(

Provide it with plenty of food and water and lock it up for your safety. You probably don't want to be attacked by a dog that thinks you're F'edexuthryll, demon lord of postmen.

You ever see the classic pizza hut buildings? The iconic roof and solid brick-work make the buildings stand out even if they are sold and repurposed. Sure they can paint it, put decorations on it, rename it, hell you can even put a giant sign on it that says "not a pizza hut!", but in the end everyone knows that used to be a pizza hut. The building could even change from the food industry entirely and the first thought on their mind will be "wow it's weird that the pizza hut is a bank now". That's what you are, ~~tranny~~

>> ☐ Anonymous 10/06/10(Wed)06:22 No.74982XXX

Let me guess.

You couldn't find a girlfriend, and were scared of growing up and becoming a man in society, god forbid you have to work hard. You also wanted the dream girl so bad that you became her.

And now, you wear her like a corpse, a puppet, and your entire life is lived wearing a mask that you dangle about in the faces of others, your only redeeming features are entirely sexual, you're a living, walking, artificial whore with a tiny shrunken cock, and a damaged chimeras body stuck between man and woman, that will slowly fall apart as you reach the end of your thirties.

Trannies are very similar to schizophrenics.
Hear me out >both disorders have physical causes that can be observed by doing an MRI on the brain >both disorders are phenomenon experienced by only the person with the disorder >both have high suicide rates >both people experience delusions
Now one set of delusions is ignored and medicated.
One set of delusions is accepted, promoted, given drugs to help castrate themselves, and finally given surgery to achieve the delusion.

I do this every time a woman pisses me off in traffic and mark each one of their addresses in google maps for when i finally snap. I make it very obvious that I'm following them and hope it makes them uncomfortable. Anyone else do this?

azealiabanks @joey10pack well I try to tell the transgirls that getting castrated doesn't automatically make them a female but if society can do mental gymnastics to lie and tell them that an eggless person who still produces semen is a woman and let them rock, you are all going bend the rules to accept this newly black Jewish coochie. I'm Jewish now... you can't stop me.

I work in the ER and whenever I see dudes come in with their early 20s girlfriends I always make it a point to say; "Is this your Mom here with you?" The girls obviously are shaken to their core immediately but it's not so out of pocket that it seems like an insult. It just seems like I'm genuinely trying to figure out who's here with the patient. They just know I called them old and I watch them contemplate to themselves if they look ugly and hag-like.

I also ask single Moms with their mixed race kids if they; "Want me to add Dad as an emergency contact?" Their faces always sink and they look away as they tell me no in embarrassment.

Vladimir Putin loyalist taunts Westerners by live streaming gas stove burning all day

The unnamed man, from Rostov in Russia, live-streamed his gas stove burning on Twitch amid spiralling energy price rises among Brits and Europeans, which has lead many countries to offer gas users financial compensation

By Will Stewart, Russia Correspondent & Ryan Fahey, World News Reporter
15:05, 20 Sep 2022 | UPDATED 16:00, 20 Sep 2022

A Vladimir Putin loyalist is taunting Westerners by live streaming his gas stove burning around the clock.

He claims his gas bill is just £1.25 a month even with up to four rings alight 24/7.

The unnamed Rostov man headlined his Twitch broadcast: "From Russia with love."

His live stream comes as British and European people face spiralling gas bills leading to bills of many thousands of pounds, leading countries to offer financial compensation to gas users.

And there are fears of rationing across the continent in the cold winter due to Russia's retaliation for Western sanctions linked to Vladimir Putin's war in Ukraine.

The streamer put a thermometer next to the gas stove, showing 41C.

You just requested to abort the mission. But what if this option was negated?
What if we, the developers, decided that you can NOT do what you want with your own character?
This is what many women in America experience right now.

Think about it.

I've been mailing my trash to random addresses in India for years now.

There's shipping services that bundle tons of small shipments into a large shipment to make international freight cheaper for people like me where delivery time doesn't matter.

Each month I take my garbage bags and compress them into a garbage cube, then I box it up and mail it.

It costs about 200$ a month which is only about 75$ more expensive than the local garbage service.

I had some stupid commiefornia bitch move in next door to me. She would freak out anytime she saw a gator. Bitch, you bought a house on the water, wtf did you think was in there? She built some shitty 4' chain link fence around her house. Now, gators can climb chain link, they usually won't but they can. Doesn't matter, for the next year every night I got drunk and saw a little gator off my dock, basically every night, I would grab it and throw it over her fence.

She took down the chainlink fence and put up a 6' wood privacy fence. I've never seen a gator climb a six foot wood fence, but I'm 6'2" and can chunk gators, drunk, over a six foot fence all night. I think the most I ever did in one night was 7 gators.

She took her stupid ass back to California.

I'm a bus driver. If I'm having a bad day at work, I'll look in the mirror while driving, and mutter to myself "you're all cunts aren't you?" and then tap the brakes twice so they all nod.

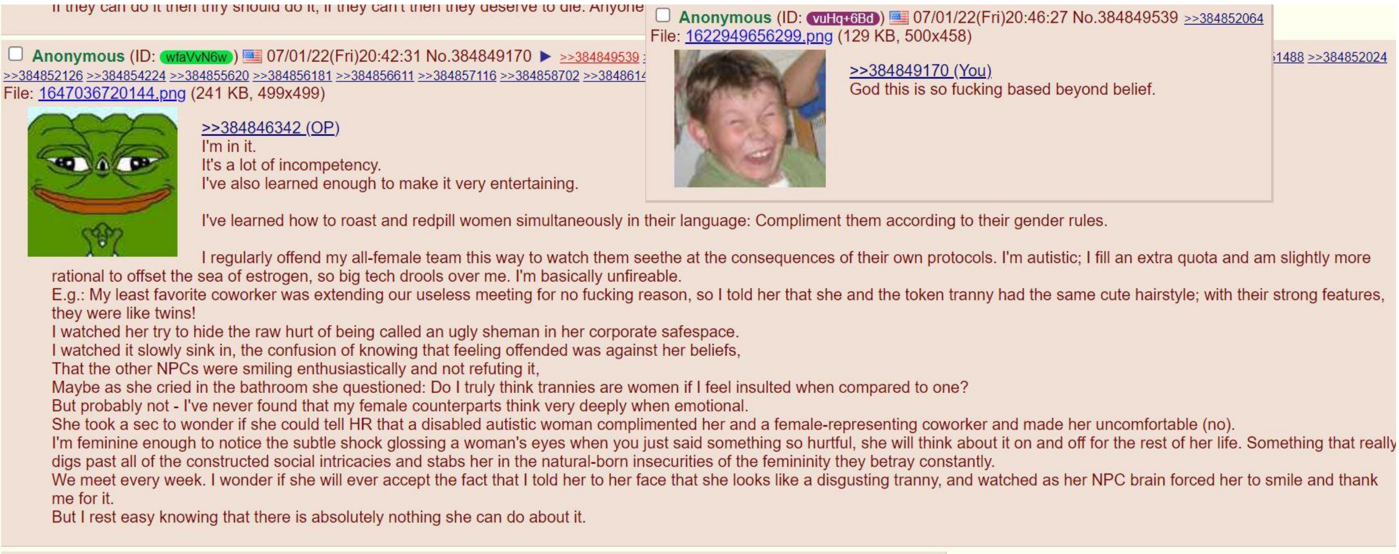
I poop in plastic bags and vacuum seal them airtight. then I put them in heavy duty yelllow business envelopes, the kind with the string because metal brads are the velcro sholaces of envelopes. i use three stamps because i take big shits and I don't want them returning to sender and then I mail them to congress.

the first time was because I was angry and it became so satisfying I cannot stop



If they can do it then thry should do it, if they can't then they deserve to die. Anyone

I'm in it.
It's a lot of incompetency.
I've also learned enough to make it very entertaining.

I've learned how to roast and redpill women simultaneously in their language: Compliment them according to their gender rules.

I regularly offend my all-female team this way to watch them seethe at the consequences of their own protocols. I'm autistic; I fill an extra quota and am slightly more rational to offset the sea of estrogen, so big tech drools over me. I'm basically unfireable.
E.g.: My least favorite coworker was extending our useless meeting for no fucking reason, so I told her that she and the token tranny had the same cute hairstyle; with their strong features, they were like twins!
I watched her try to hide the raw hurt of being called an ugly sheman in her corporate safespace.
I watched it slowly sink in, the confusion of knowing that feeling offended was against her beliefs,
That the other NPCs were smiling enthusiastically and not refuting it,
Maybe as she cried in the bathroom she questioned: Do I truly think trannies are women if I feel insulted when compared to one?
But probably not - I've never found that my female counterparts think very deeply when emotional.
She took a sec to wonder if she could tell HR that a disabled autistic woman complimented her and a female-representing coworker and made her uncomfortable (no).
I'm feminine enough to notice the subtle shock glossing a woman's eyes when you just said something so hurtful, she will think about it on and off for the rest of her life. Something that really digs past all of the constructed social intricacies and stabs her in the natural-born insecurities of the femininity they betray constantly.
We meet every week. I wonder if she will ever accept the fact that I told her to her face that she looks like a disgusting tranny, and watched as her NPC brain forced her to smile and thank me for it.
But I rest easy knowing that there is absolutely nothing she can do about it.

The Jews have been kicked out of every place they've ever lived.
Do they sound like the good guys?

Have you ever googled who owns the media corporations?

The water table at Auschwitz lies a mere 18 inches below the surface which makes claims of huge burning pits for the disposal of tens of thousands of victims untenable.

You can't knock down three skyscrapers using two airplanes.
That's fucking stupid.

COVID-19 Booster Requirement

The George Washington University will require a COVID-19 vaccine booster dose for all eligible students, faculty and staff in university-owned or -operated facilities by February 1, 2022.

The booster requirement aligns with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's (CDC) recommendation and is part of our ongoing efforts to keep the GW community healthy and safe amid the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic.

You must receive a booster dose and upload documentation to the medical portal by February 1, 2022, or as soon as you become eligible. Instructions on how to upload documentation are online.

If you do not submit documentation of a booster dose by February 1, 2022, you will be required to be tested for COVID-19 weekly and complete the daily symptom monitoring questionnaire until you are in compliance with this mandate. Returning students who do not show evidence of a booster by March 15, 2022, will not be eligible to register for summer or fall classes. Faculty and staff who do not receive a booster by March 15, 2022, will receive a warning message and subsequent employment actions may take place.

If you currently have a medical or religious exemption to GW's vaccine requirement, the booster mandate does not apply to you. However, you must continue to follow required campus health protocols.

So what's your thing? Here is mine...
I often visit small YouTube channels. You know, very personal ones, like belonging to families or some local organizations. Always English-speaking, preferably American. And I leave comments in Russian. Like, in Cyrillics. My username is also in Russian, of course. I'm not flaming or trolling, my comments are positive and on spot with the video.
For example, some guy form Chicago Fire Department made a music video about their fire trucks. To which I responded "Неплохо, люблю пожарные машины!" Meaning, "Not bad, I love fire trucks!"
It fills me with such gleeful joy when they like my comments! Imagine anglophones looking at my gibberish, thinking it's spam or something, then translating it to get a relevant and nice commentary instead!

Fren.
Let me tell you a secret, it's a little personal.
I find struggle beautiful.
Not in a weird, fetishistic, sexual way.
And not in the sadistic "ngmi" kind of way.
The struggle, to grow, to change, to move forward.
>the hatchling cracking the shell >the butterfly bursting it's cacoon >the fight for survival
>the will to live beating out the odds
There is nothing more synonymous with life itself, and life is the most beautiful thing.

If you're trying, if you're struggling, you're beautiful; and in my eyes you're making it.

I've encountered flat earth theories before. I discounted them. To me, a spherical earth with 360° of gravity was more impressive proof for God (I collect scientific evidence, I'm sure I'll post it here later, to prove to the haters, for my vindication and the sake of their eternal souls)
Anyways, was at a friend from churches house for the first time. Great family. All flat eartheres.

I sometimes send bills to companies for money-transfer services. In most cases they don't pay, but when they do, I get free money.
My company's website clearly states that it offers services of you transfering money to me by paying my unsolicited bills. Thats the service, if you pay the bill you got the service and thus can't complain.
I do offer a 1 month full-refund, just to avoid most lawsuits.
I get a lot of repeat orders from large companies with shitty accountants.

Technically not a scam however, cause I've already been challenged in court and I got off with lawyer fees paid.

My motivation most of the time is hatred and spite. Let's take my neighbor across the street as an example. I don't give a fuck about landscaping, I don't particularly feel good about a well manicured yard and lawn. But you know what the guy across the street has? He has a nice yard and property that he pays a fleet of illegals to maintain for him. I also know from meeting and speaking with him that he's a naturalized citizen formerly from the UK, who despises everything this country is supposed to be, and is working hard at his job (which is at the fucking WORLD BANK) to make sure that he can help do his part to turn America into a piece of shit nation of immigrants.

So one day I went outside and I looked at my yard which was a bit shabby from the previous owner and I looked at the manicured property of the disgusting shabbos goy shitbag across the street from me and my vision went red with rage. I spent the past two years learning more than I ever wanted to know about lawncare and gardening, I obtained equipment and I put hours of sweat and work into transforming my property into something out of a landscaping magazine. My grass alone makes his property look like dogshit by comparison much less the window boxes I installed, and the landscaping I meticulously crafted.

Now I don't take pride in how nice my property looks. I get lots of compliments and all, everyone thinks I'm just really into landscaping and all of that. No, I don't give a fuck. My motivation was fuck that guy. Fuck that fucking faggot over there. He's a piece of shit fucking cocksucker, and I KNOW he cares a LOT about that little yard of his and now he's getting fucking mogged 24/7 365 days per year by his neighbor, and there's no way he doesn't realize it. No matter what he does he will never muster the energy to eclipse the splendor of my property. He's forced to live looking at his own inferiority, helpless. That's my motivation, that's how I find it.

So this is why you always network with people so that way you can just fucking skip HR. Every job i have ever gotten was because i skipped HR completely and just made friends with the people that worked there then got my resume to them.

Also pro tip for you all:
If you are applying online, the way the systems work is it will scan your resume for key words that are indicative of you being a good candidate, the more of the keywords you match in your resume the higher up on the list you go. To cheat and game this system, before you submit your resume, copy the entire job description, and place the entire description in your resume at the very end. Shrink it down to the smallest size possible, match the next to match the background of your resume, so its virtually invisible, then same the resume as a unmediatable PDF
If possible put the description in another layer of the same document, this can be done with some soft ware.

Then submit it, this way the automatic system will detect literally a 100% match for key words and put your WAAAAAY at the top of the list of Online applications, and when someone looks at it, a human, they wont even be able to see it.

Interesting theory that has been sparked with my past expiriences of hitchhiking.

If you read the bahgavagita, Krishna tells the soldier, "A true devotee will rely completely on me and I will provide." Atleast I think. It's been about five years since I read it.

So as to hitchhiking and the strange phenomena behind it.
1. ≈50% of the time you will find yourself being picked up by someone to have a relevant need for you being there. Whether it be for you to assist them or them to assist you or even just for some type of communion. I got picked up by a guy on my way out of Salt Lake city and we ended up taking lsd and having a fire on the sands of the Salt lake. Many of my rides would give me money and our conversations would get very deep to the point where we worked out serious issues in our lives.

2. If you can't find a ride, there comes a point where you will decide to start walking. You will find things on the side of the road that you will use in a later circumstance. I can't tell you how many times I didn't pick something up on that would have been the perfect item for a situation.

I do believe that there is a group of people relying 100% on krishna's (gods) assistance that are also protected under his umbrella. You must first achieve true devotion in order to commune with said group. This is just a crackpot theory but I believe I was very close but then gave up.

"If the thunder don't get you, the lightning will" I got got by said thunder.

Having a daughter is the only way to ensure that your grandchildren are yours because even if your daughter cucks your son in law for a Chad you still know that they are your grand children+Chad genes.

However, if your son gets cucked in favor of a Chad that genetic branch dies right then and there.

Therefore, in the interest of multi generational integrity and long term gain it is superior to have many daughters whom are not only beautiful but cunning and ruthless and loyal to the (our) family even at the expense of their future husbands. Even if that means divorcing him and taking half of his stuff.

In actuality there is nothing more cucked than having a son because he can not only be cucked himself he can also have half of his estate taken from him by a divorce, thus significantly weakening clan wealth.

If you have many daughters and you treat them well and raise them to be desirable by great men you will always be well taken care of especially in your old age.

I was once stranded in the wilderness of Canada, alone for 3 months of winter. With no real survival supplies besides a hatchet, some fishing tackle, and one pan (which I only used to boil water sterile, because no soap), I built a shelter and survived by ice fishing and collecting fire wood at night. It got down to 30 below zero (C), but I survived in a shelter I made: a lean-to with a fire at its mouth, surrounded by stones which I would bring into the shelter during the day to sleep (had to stay moving at night or get frostbite).

One night I was gazing at the sky. It was so cold and clear I could see man made satellites crossing the sky. Every night there would be at least a few shooting stars if one looked long enough. On the distant horizon I saw a great orange glow, which became a red finger of flame. I knew then the forest was on fire! As I quickly grabbed my things to flee I noticed the same orange glow on the opposite horizon and soon red tongues licked the sky beyond the tree tops from every direction. For a moment I knew I was doomed. I was at peace though. Having achieved harmony with nature, alone in the wilderness, I had realized the true value of life and it was not what society had taught me at all. I was content with my life, and fully prepared to face death, which had stared me in the face for weeks.

The red flames reached impossibly high into the sky until they met in the center of the great starry dome. I realized then what I saw was an aurora. The "flames" danced around the horizon as I watched them slowly turning like great wheel with crooked spokes.

I eventually built a small improvisational cabin from small branches as big as my arm. When the spring came I had over a chord of fire wood – enough to last most of another winter. I contemplated staying there, but I would need more fishing tackle and other supplies. The melting snow packed insulation of my roof forced me to reluctantly leave. I marked the trees on my way back to civilization with the hobo symbol of "safe camp".

When I got back to civilization I looked up the event. It turns out the red aurora is rare, and seeing a full sky of it even more rare. It is sometimes too faint to be seen if there is light pollution from cities. You are more right than you may realize, however the green aurora is not the only one. I have seen The Black Sun's fire rise and burn away a false world with crimson flame.

To this day I could die tonight satisfied with my life, having come to know the spirit of our ancient ancestors.

Never go to a football match in Paris. Awful experience tonight with bands of thieves stealing phones, handbags, tickets: we were horrified and so were our kids. It was the law of the jungle, with Liverpool and Madrid fans in panic and the French police unable to do anything.

You're on MSNBC, a highly-rated news organization. Fight back, Chris. Show all those white looters and carjackers. Shine a light on those white smash-and-grab organized mobs. Illuminate those white subway felons and strong-armed street gunmen. Use the news! Good luck, sir.

Racism and misogyny are the most banned things in the world. You can't be racist or misogynistic any where online, even here, without some crybaby faggot banning you for saying a meanie word. Imagine that. Adults freely exchanging ideas, and there are specially appointed "don't be a meanie, the women and minorities can't handle it!" police who literally do it for free. The average person is so mentally and emotionally committed to protecting women and minorities from the slightest criticism that they volunteer, FOR FREE, to police communities they despise, full of people who despise them, just to make sure no woman or minority is ever criticized.

Reading books elevates you above this mass of thought-policing crybabies and puts you in dialogue with the greatest and most brilliant men in history, most of whom were racist misogynists, because racism and misogyny are not only true, they're extremely funny.

>The Odyssey translated by Emily Wilson is amazing.

Richmond Lattimore (1967):
>Tell me, Muse, of the man of many ways, who was driven >far journeys, after he had sacked Troy's sacred citadel.
>Many were they whose cities he saw, whose minds he learned of, >many the pains he suffered in his spirit on the wide sea, >struggling for his own life and the homecoming of his companions.
>Even so he could not save his companions, hard though >he strove to; they were destroyed by their own wild recklessness, >fools, who devoured the oxen of Helios, the Sun God, >and he took away the day of their homecoming. From some point >here, goddess, daughter of Zeus, speak, and begin our story.

Emily Wilson (2017):
>Tell me about a complicated man.
>Muse, tell me how he wandered and was lost >when he had wrecked the holy town of Troy, >and where he went, and who he met, the pain >he suffered in the storms at sea, and how >he worked to save his life and bring his men >back home. He failed to keep them safe; poor fools, >they ate the Sun God's cattle, and the god >kept them from home. Now goddess, child of Zeus, >tell the old story for our modern times.
>Find the beginning.

Its all an echo chamber. 90% of those with any power in terms of entertainment and culture, even at the grunt level agree with at least 80% of the crap spouted on ResetEra. The West is basically a theocracy at this point for a religion without a name aside from the nebulous "woke", or "successor ideology".

Also, unlike Christianity, there is not intelligent human capital out there that can vivisect the contradictions to this religion because it does an incredible job in making sure no quality human capital ever apostates. The only ones that can see the contradictions are losers like us outside the halls of influence and power.

Its really bizarre to me how quickly the imperialism happened. There was an undercurrent to this back in the 2000's, but everything did not get politicized and outright hostile until the 2010's. Now all "nerd" hobbies are basically just evangelization for their political and social beliefs.

And considering how centralized the internet now is, there is almost no way of forming alternative spaces or nexuses for apostasy.

There will never be a massively popular work that vivisects the woke/sjw religion like there was for Christianity simply because the cultures has so many chokepoints that almost no high iq human capital ever slips through the cracks.

I have pretty much only retreated to retro video games, and very sporadically post on this shithole. I lurked on kiwifarms, and that place, probably the last vestige of actual diversity on the internet, got taken down thanks to the woke imperialists.

I do wonder if this new religion has any vulnerabilities because unlike say capitalism vs communism, there exists no prominent example for which to contrast the present state with. Russia is a dying shithole and China is gilded.

What could possibly cause a spiritual decay for "woke" or the successor ideology?

not a bait. the whole shit started with her ranting about abortion being a necessity that should be given to any pregnant woman who requests it. she also ranted about how abortion clinics would be a common place if males had to get pregnant and shit like that. i think i escalated the situation a bit by saying she sounds like her womb is a place of many funerals if she finds the workplace to be an appropriate place to discuss shit like that.

I need some advice from people that have skin folds.
*First I'm going to say that my health is fine so all those that are "worried about my health" can kindly go away.

I have always been clinically obese but a couple years ago, I went through a seriously stressful time & over the course of 2 years, my tummy folded over on itself, my thighs have gotten a bigger crease in the crotch & my breasts gained a couple sizes. with my dry skin, showering daily is not an option unless I'm super sweaty (which doesn't happen often) I'm noticing that the folds aren't smelling very nice after a little bit. I'll wash them with a washcloth but with trying to dry them properly, It's a bit of a pain & sometimes makes the problem worse. I tried using an unscented deodorant (also to prevent chaffing) but they made the area smell rancid after a few hours. Is there anything else I can do to the areas to help?
*Again, strangers worrying about my health can go away.

I have internet again! If this message reaches you then I am being held hostage by my country's roasties starting a revolution for muh scarf of oppression, know that I am drenched in hatred of all femoids (except my mom who makes great food, love you mom), and these recent events have only made me more steadfast in my endeavor to make life as hard as possible for all roasties.

Yesterday I was walking in mid town where I saw a bunch of teenage girls marching without scarfs in the middle of the street. There were no cops around. I walked for several minutes and reached a group of cops about ten minutes from the protest. I told them about the girls and they got on their motorcycles and speeded towards them. I hope they received a good beating. I did my share of good work this week.

Are Ex's allowed to post? Well, here it goes:

You wish you were a real actress so people couldn't see right through you. You look like your major in college was gold digging. You might be able to marry rich if you knew what to do with a dick when you see one. You're so desperate for attention you've gone from self-posting on r/prettygirls and r/goddesses to r/roastme. Your little shit of a purse dog is the only true loyalty you'll ever find, and even that is contingent on you continuing to feed it. Your tattoos of guns pointing at your vagina are probably there because the dumb-ass guys you've had to settle for need instructions in finding it under that Demi Moore-inspired bush of yours. You flossed your eyebrows more than a dentist flosses his teeth. Your nipples look like they had a fight with each other and are hiding on the opposite sides of your boobs. You obviously can't take criticism. You will die alone.

this is pretty true, just a compound of non stop women moments and sabotage . she was paranoid about her ex, and gf at home, she wanted more attention and fame , she didnt like doing any of her 'work' and demanded being excused.

lots of little thing trying to make life hard to be 'forced ' to go home a year early, she decided 'space was too much' with in a week or so.

this culminated in the bathroom, and how nasa and toilets are sexist cause they arent comfortable, and theres boys always around .

nasa said , the toilet was designed with ladies in mind, and its uncomfortable to boys too.

She was enraged and demanded a toilet be designed and sent up for women and women only.

nasa stated that this will take up to a year and $100s of millions, but they'll start

She did not like that, and demanded to be sent home immediately .'im not comfortable, i dont want to be here anymore.'

nasa responded by easing her duties to basically nothing , and letting her know there is a taxi scheduled in 9 months.

and that they have a few woman power missions planned for her to make her famous. even a first ever woman outside repair without a man doing it instead.

this was not enough she wanted a rocket home now when nasa said, that is just not in the logistics, she flipped, she then refused to bathe , use the restroom properly [jamming it / let shit and piss spray all over the place] and refused to pickup or follow cleanliness protocols, damaging equipment and causing smells.

This is where its fucked,!

ever since its creation the ISS has been the cleanest freshest smelling environment ever , possible , and strictly maintained as such for one very important reason, if you are going to be in a closed place floating through space over 100 years, you can not replace your atmosphere with a fresh one,,,,, every smell is forever..

ISS a pleasant environment with a pleasant smell..... until now.

She continues being a piece of shit, annoying everybody, making messes , assaulting people , destroying their research and altering the experiments of others while they were away,,, like poisoning space plants randomly. she wanted to be fired [from space...]

then her big day came, the first ever female only , outside 'repair'

[she majorly failed her last few costing 100s of millions, with a mail lead and had to be replaced with a male mid way through. in one she dropped all of her tools , allll,, into the void. the next she borrowed all of the tools of the second, because the capt, refused to let her touch his. then preceded to drop all of his tools into the void. leaving just 2 almost sets.]

now she out in space, trying to repair a loose bolt near hydraulics with no man doing it, or telling her what to do, [except the team of men giving her mil sec by mil sec instructions , but the budget already had 250,000,000 set aside for complications].

3 hours of look cool outside, tighten a bolt on live tv, and re enter, turned into 6 hourd of nervous giggle girls panicking , almost thriwing them selfs into space, loosing most tools in the last second box, some from other box.

and girls finally 'finding the bolt' panic stick gun on it, and just completely soak themselfs and everything with 70 year soaking up radiation , super horrific rotten egg smelling fluids.

They immediately turn and rush in and in panic skip all decontamination protocols [on the news feeds you see them skip all locks and through the filthy radioactive space gear off in the dorms, saying mission accomplished , capt upset, mcontrol upset, whole world celebrates for weeks.

the next day capton checks the no work repair, to see that the whole external arm is fubar and canada is offered $250,000,000 in hours make a new one.

This is a major fucking deal in the space community.

nasa now has to get a team together to study for 6-12/48 months if space is worth it .

in less than a month, things are clear, everything is well beyond fucked, everything, inside and out is coated in the stinkest, slimeyest oils, and everyone is finally getting pissed at her after nearing a year of this.

""but its worse than you could ever imagine . [cunt] """

she thinks shes won saying , shes beaten them, shell be home soon, then nasa reminds her the taxi is still like 6 months away, she looses her shit and destroys equipment , makes messes and destroys the toilet 2 times in a few days, mc assures her the new toilet is on the way.

'i dont want a fin toilet, i wanna go home'

later that day ,less than a month after space walk the american toilet was destroyed beyond repair with witnesses , and no hope for 6 months.

though the russians were real bros, they didnt want her psycho targeting them.... they let the americans use their toilet , guarded, for a few days,,,, then she tried to destroy russians.

the americans were then left with only diapers in only a month huge issues are becoming very obvious,, i mean if hundreds of used diapers just building up and floating around wasnt enough.

everything is slimy and stinky even your skin everything now smells and tastes like shit and piss... forever.
equipment is all contaminated / unfixable and is constantly malfunctioning you have to move literal shit out of the way to do anything.
no room to do any of the jobs.

and a girl still being caught again and again trying to sneaky sabotage things. even being busted while breaking into russian private spaces and equipment a few times. [they let her barrow tools after loosing some, before they got strict] even the men on both sides were begging for help.

capt; please get this psycho bitch out of here immediately woman; please get me out of here . now.

GC; [r x100] logistics wouldnt fit such a time line, unless something catastrophic happens.

in 3 months, theres been a major fubar of an external arm, permanently irradiating the ISS to deadly degrees inside and out.

a destruction of toiletry making the place no longer safe , sterile, or inhabitable.

and now a drop in over all air within this can floating through space, immediately picked on sensors , recorded on camera, limp pussy hole, from the only drill left in space, that was found stolen and in possession of the lady who was been making everyones life hell all year.

MC has finally set a new priority , remove the women from ISS asap, or there will be no ISS left.

so they did a little rescheduling, and thought, why send women toilet to space , when you could take woman out of space.

so instead of a heroic, we sent a woman toilet to iss to cure space poop, heres 3 months of them trying it out.

they sent an 'emergency taxi' to remove the women early, and sneak on a normal toilet. [they later made a big deal sending the woman toilet, after she was gone]. where they planned 6 months to assess damages ,

""but its worse than you could ever imagine . [cunt] ""

[cunted]

around the time the would began to celebrate nasa sending in the first new and improved toilet into space. some devastating information started coming into light.

It turns out, the original set of peopled hired to access the damages caused to the entire space program, were still releasing findings, and searching for any solutions, when...

they concluded...

Everything is far beyond possible repair, final mission, crash into the ocean.

them along with the scientist in space concluded, decades worth of research is ruined forever.

in under 1 year over 1 trillion dollars of damage was done on equipment and research.

all material and equipment are contaminated and unusable for science.

everything is forever radioactive , so long stays would cost life.

everything is forever radioactive, so experiments are forever impossible.

the 'freshest' smelling place there is, forever smells like shit and piss, along with all you eat and drink.

and all electronics and ducts are coated in oils inside and out, therefore unfixable, and problems would only grow.

and if space science is worth it. because now we have to start over from scratch.

And you can most definitely see Major General Buchanan having a moment of profound disbelief of what his eyes are seeing.

This is going to sound edgy as fuck, but I think I finally understand the male impulse to rape.

I look at her and feel two things at once:
1. Utter disgust with her personality and full knowledge she's a horrible person who I would gladly throw in the gutter
2. Sexual attraction

The only clear reaction to that combination of feelings is rape. It satisfies both the lust and the rejection of her humanity

My husband has just had a pay rise, which is lovely, but I can't help notice that in the last 10 years, his salary has increased 87%, while mine has increased by 18%

I've spent most of that time working on curing cancer. He's been calculating your car insurance.

I just learned today that my husband of 7 years genuinely hates animals. He's never been very warm to the few we have (a dog and we keep chickens) but only recently did he spell it out very clearly for me.

>working out in the garden
>our dog starts barking so I investigate >another dog has approached our driveway and is barking back >people camp nearby so I know where it came from >take our dog inside and go back to the garden >ten minutes later I hear a gunshot >my husband executed it from a few yards away >it's clearly domesticated and not feral >his excuse is "It doesn't have a collar on" and "this is what I do with cats and snakes anyway" >was it aggressive?
>"It could have been"
>against his wishes I call the sheriff >sure enough the dog really did belong to a nearby family and they threaten to sue us >sheriff says the dog was off a leash and had no identification so there's nothing he can do >husband isnt apologetic at all >when the father of the other family became belligerent my husband says and I quote "Watch it or you'll be next, boy"

What am I supposed to do? I don't know how to sit him down and explain he shouldn't just shoot animals who venture onto the property and I don't feel like it's a conversation I should even need to have.

The irony is that men use money to attract women but hate gold diggers and women use their body to attract men but hate to be viewed as sex objects. Beats me

This is Barbie. She is unrealistically thin and perfect. Over the past 55 years she has been riddled with controversy. When girls play with her it damages their self image and causes them to feel like they must be perfect to be liked. They become obsessed with looks and weight. It leads to millions of eating disorders and billions in spending on makeup, clothes, and plastic surgery. Her whiteness has alienated little girls of color making them feel they are not pretty. Some of her outfits and accessories lead girls to want to dress inappropriately leading to promiscuity. She has been banned in some countries.

This is He-Man. He is unrealistically strong and muscular. Boys play with him then move on with life.

Her feet go down to Death; her steps lead straight to Hell. She cares nothing about the Path of Life. She staggers down a crooked trail and doesn't realize it... So she seducted him with her pretty speech and flattery .. He followed her at once, like an ox going to slaughter... So... Don't wander down her wayward path. She has been the ruin of many; many men have been her victims. Her house is the road to the grave. Her bedroom is the Den of Death. - Proverbs 5-7 >be male nurse >work with females only every day

This is a living hell. Day in day out drama over the pettiest things, judging people for superficial reasons, assessing most situations wrong but insisting they are in the right (this is especially a problem with the higher up females, trust me these are the worst of the worst), generally a lack of empathy etc.

If you didn't hate females before, you will definitely hate them when you work with an all-female crew. By the way, the Karen meme that Reddit made is definitely true. I had to interact with so many old female hags that expect to be treated like they are in a 5 star hotel, despicable behaviour that I have genuinely never seen from a male patient. I fucking hate this job and I hate women.

>She's book smart, at least I think she is, but in reality she's kind of an airhead when it comes to common sense.

That's all women. They do well in institutional settings like college or corporate America because they are obedient, and can jump through hoops perfectly, like a trained poodle. They adopt all the lingo and buzzwords and use this to mimic competence. This is universally misinterpreted as a sign of intelligence, but it's really just deference to authority. Of course, when it comes to innovation, logic, or abstract thought, they completely fail. Women are biologically designed to obey men, take care of children, and collect and prepare food. When they are inappropriately placed in positions of power unrelated to these core traits, they invariably fuck everything up.

>Our top story tonight, Rockstar Games, developers of titles such as Grand Theft Auto V and Red Dead Redemption 2, are rumored to feature their first ever female protagonist in their next game, the hugely anticipated Grand Theft Auto VI.
>Many fans of Rockstar Games have taken to the streets to voice their displeasure, calling it "virtue signaling", or an act of "political wokeness".
>Rockstar Games have responded to these criticisms, explaining that making the protagonist female is purely for gameplay purposes.
>Rockstar Games CEO Sam Houser was quoted as saying, "who better to run red lights and mow down people on the sidewalk than a female driver?"

When you don't cum from fucking a woman it gets in their head. They start asking themselves if they're not attractive enough or not good enough and start thinking there's something wrong with them. My advice to all guys is when you're fucking a woman for the first time take a couple shots of liquor and put some lidocaine or some other numbing agent on your dick. Fuck for an hour or then just stop and say you can't finish. This will drive them nuts and they won't stop thinking of ways to please you so they can get their confidence and self esteem back

Here's a great(and fun) way to out filter men, that me and my friends have tried and has been proven accurate ask them what their favorite book is. If it's Atlas Shrugged, run. If it's Catcher in the Rye or The Great Gatsby, then its likely he hasn't read a book since high school. Maybe okay but he's probably boring. If it's anything by Margaret Atwood or Toni Morrison he's lying to get into your pants. Any classic sci-fi or fantasy is acceptable but be very wary of men who are too enthusiastic about sci-fi and fantasy. Biographies are also acceptable but obviously it depends on who it's about!

Anything by Franzen, Palahniuk, Pynchon or Chabon, run. Vonnegut? I mean, use caution. But generally okay. Dickens? Make sure he's not lying but Dickens is a win.

as mentioned above be a little wary if it's something by a female author. cause he's probably lying and trying to just fuck you. Unless it's Frankenstein, then he's an adorable weirdo if you're into that, if its Harry Potter then it mean's he's too young/immature for you.(unless you're into Harry Potter yourself, then I'm sorry)

If he's into any major 19th century Russian Literature e.g the Brothers Karamazov by Fyodor Dostoevsky then he's most likely a pessimistic misanthrope disillusioned by humanity

now If he only reads non-fiction then it depends on the subject

If his favorite book is a fitness related book, then it's likely he has some self loathing issues to some degree, If a guy has a standard generic exercise advice book then you should be okay but if his favorite book is Sun and Steel, RUN away and never look back.

If its an art book then make sure its works related to art fundamentals and or the old masters and not weeb shit

now the most diverse topic history, avoid WW2 History buffs, If their into world history in General its fine as long its not just WW2, as well as anyone too obsessed with the Romans, but if their in to anything by Will and Ariel Durnat then you've find a keeper, the Durant's always give a nuanced portrayal of history and always mention the status of women for every civilization they discuss in that time period as for philosophy avoid anyone into Aristotle, Nietzsche, and especially Derrida and Foucault. Kant and Hegel is generally okay

It is the secret to roasting and redpilling women simultaneously in their language - compliment them according to the gender rules they force.
My least favorite coworker was extending our useless meeting for no fucking reason, so I told her that she and the token tranny had the same cute hairstyle; with glasses and the same strong features too, they were like twins!
I stared blankly as I watched her try to hide the raw hurt of being called an ugly sheman in her corporate safespace.
I watched it slowly sink in, the confusion of knowing that feeling offended was against her beliefs,
That the other NPCs were smiling enthusiastically and not refuting it,
Maybe as she cried in the bathroom she questioned: Do I truly think trannies are women if I feel insulted when compared to one?
But probably not - I've never found that my female counterparts think very deeply when emotional.
I'm feminine enough to notice the subtle shock glossing a woman's eyes when you just said something so hurtful, she will think about it on and off for the rest of her life. Something that really digs past all of their constructed social intricacies and stabs them in our natural-born insecurities.
At this point, a few of them probably know that I am not doing this from autistic ignorance and that I'm deliberately being a cunt.
And my least favorite especially will probably never accept the fact that I told her to her face that she looks like a disgusting tranny, and watched as her NPC brain forced her to smile and thank me for it.
But I rest easy knowing there's nothing any of them can do about it.

>the following proverb is also found in Puerto Rico: "To keep your wife on the rails, beat her -- and if she goes off the rails, beat her." Some popular proverbs about wife-beating in the Arabic world can be heard in Africa, south of the Sahara, such as: "Beat your wife regularly; even if you don't know why, she will."

>"Women and chops -- the more you beat them the better they'll be" is a German saying; "Clubbing produces virtuous wives" is Chinese. In England and the United States, it is said, "Women, like gongs, should be beaten regularly," while in Korea, a proverb states, "A woman who is beaten is going to be a better wife."

>The list goes on and on. "Do not spare a bullock or a wife" (Myanmar). "The nails of a cart and the head of a woman, they work only when they are hit hard" (India). "For the man who beats his wife, God improves the food" (Russia). "A woman, a dog and a walnut tree -- the harder you beat them, the better they be" (Europe).

>Violence is often recommended as the way for example in an Arabic proverb: "The man who can't slaughter his sheep or who can't beat his wife [when she deserves it], is better dead than alive."

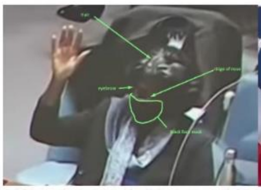
I thought the thing in her hair were her glasses and the ring is just some freak occurence reflection of her nose and eyesocket idk



She is facing towards us, leaning to her left and looking down at papers. She is black and her hair is covering her face in a shadow. Bad lighting mixed with schizophrenic tendencies caused you think this was a demon. Is she still a demon? maybe

“In that direction,” the cat said, waving its right paw round, “lives the conspiracy-tards: and in that direction,” waving its other paw, “lives the occult-fags. Visit either you like: they’re both schizos”
“But I don’t want to go among schizos,” Alice remarked.
"Oh, you can’t help that," said the Cat: "we’re all schizo here. I’m schizo. You’re schizo."
"How do you know I’m schizo?" said Alice.
"You must be," said the Cat, "or you wouldn’t have come here.

I know your works, and where you dwell, where Satan's throne is. And you hold fast to My name, and did not deny My faith even in the days in which Antipas was My faithful martyr, who was killed among you, where Satan dwells

Ok so the dude was sacrificed to moloch in a country that later wired all their bridges to explode and in the city where the UN, WHO, WEF and Cern are headquartered.

Alright here's one of my nightmares that have the same theme.

There was one nightmare that I've had where it took place at a lighthouse that was connected to a vast underground cave system. The surface was pretty fucked up. people were plagued with a parasite, going around trying to infect others. Those that have been infected for a while, had fates worse than death. Infected individuals going to the lighthouse and fusing with the walls with their flesh getting stretched out to cover as much of the walls as possible. They still had their faces and arms sticking out. The infected that weren't fused to wall would bring flesh and begin force feeding them. Which the flesh walls would then produce more parasites that'll seek out infect new hosts. During all this I'm, running, dodging and jumping to avoid these horrors for my dear life!

Eventually I managed to get into the cave system. There was no signs of the parasite infection at first and none of the infected followed me there. So I start walking, going deeper into the cave system. At first it was a fairly normal as a cave system can be. About I'd say after 10 minutes of walking. The surface of the cave was gradually getting fleshy. Almost kinda like the transition between biomes. As I continued walking, I saw people melded to the fleshy surface. Seemingly fully conscious, but unable to scream. Just groans of agony and many faces that have that desperate look of them begging to put out of their misery. As much as I wanted to do that, I didn't have anything that could put an end to their suffering. All I could do is press on and go further into this cave system.

After about 20 minutes I come across a big open room? I'm not sure what you would call a big open area in cave. But anyways, it had flesh and melded people on the surface, but it was not that much. It was stone for the most part. In the big open space, the first thing I noticed was a bunch of robed people who's faces I couldn't really see. They were gathering around what looked like a bloody pentagram. Then that's when I saw it. A blood red abomination of what looked like a colossal worm, comes out of one the surfaces of flesh. The people in robes then turn to me and nightmare ends.

The Holy Spirit is warning you in visions of what's coming anon. I have read many people on pol and even x (though it is a shitty board) having very similar nightmares.

Many of the infected will not merely become zombies, they will be turned into biomass to restore what the Bible calls Leviathan. TLDR Satan's original body was killed in the War in Heaven. This giant serpent/dragon was massive. A superorganism. The (((illuminati)))'s goal is to revive the beast. The head was cut off but the body can still be regenerated with sufficient "food". The cells are immortal, not dead just dormant. Satan's spirit wants back into its old body. The Antichrist is just a puppet, a means to an end.

The Nobody is the Global Predictor. A secret subject of world politics that has the power of future sight. Apparently it's an advanced form of clairvoyance and ESP. The fact that he can see how future events play out in advance gives off the impression that he is influencing reality itself when he's really just a highly evolved human with psychic powers. He can also try to steer humanity in any direction either to fulfill his prophecy or to prevent it from happening. He's not the first of his kind and ability either there have been others throughout history with similar abilities. He's a hacker of human consciousness and can tap into global human planetary consciousness. The first people to have these abilities were the ancient Egyptians (who probably got this knowledge from an older civilization) whose Pharaoh's and high priests built and used the Pyramids to tap into the sphere of global human consciousness which is the noosphere to see and understand the future. The Nobody functions the same way and the lesser psychics in the world are like the lower ranking Egyptian priesthood who execute the "divine" will while the visible elites and most occult groups are just their chess pieces. The Nobody tries to be good most of the time he tries to steer humanity in a positive direction but often fails and can't change the outcome of the future. He is positioned atop of the hierarchy although he isn't connected to them in any way physically and with no direct influence. He's the capstone on top of the Pyramid with the eye that's above and disconnected from the Pyramid. By himself he is a pretty traumatized and lonely individual who has experienced severe psychological anguish and lives a lonely life full of struggle. Some of the more foolish Elites and Intel agencies would love to capture him and use him for their own ends but he's protected by forces that can easily thwart them. Ancient secret societies that seek out powerful indigo children and protects them.

/x/ when they enter the tomb of an ancient war god and realise the lesser banishing ritual of the pentagram isn't working

(chuckles)
I'm in danger.

The Backrooms

If you're not careful and you noclip out of reality in the wrong areas, you'll end up in the Backrooms, where it's nothing but the stink of old moist carpet, the madness of mono-yellow, the endless background noise of fluorescent lights at maximum hum-buzz, and approximately six hundred million square miles of randomly segmented empty rooms to be trapped in

God save you if you hear something wandering around nearby, because it sure as hell has heard you shut up you edgy fedora faggot. Demons are not your fucking pals. They are not misunderstood victims of prejudice. Bring your sjw faggish mindset into magick and see how it works. Go evoke an archdemon and see what happens when you do not bind it and subjugate it. Demons are negative in essence, beyond all moral definition you wanna tie to it. Your cunty moral high ground and your leftist mindset means none to them, you're the one ironically thinking like a basic bitch compassionate meatbag thinking you're above the commoner when you don't know shit lol. Such entities know only the Laws that bind them. Try to take the casual approach and they will fuck you up and your life with it because that is what they do. Fucking cringelord.

Im not OP nor am I the original poster of this image to qopium.overdo.se but I do know who the original poster was and he is no longer with us thanks to this post. I have worked for 2 of the groups involved in the current "event". Us lowly techs that they contract work too call them all the Molochs because thats who or what they worship. The combination of groups that orchestrated this, indeed orchestrated most of the Wests downfall in the last 40 years, have been gaining power since the end of the second world war

Im going to let you in on an open secret, hopefully some of you ladies take note of this and open your eyes a bit more. Every time they make a move they tell the world first, every single time. They consider this sport, like hunting

The mindset is that its only fair to quietly tell the public what they are about to do before they do it and if the public are too stupid to notice then, well they deserved whatever happened to them. They believe that if they warn you first and you still dont do anything to defend or avoid then you are not human, you are just a sheep, empty vessel, consumer cattle, etc. As cattle you do not have the right to self determination. Each group has slightly different terminology and slightly different goals but for now they are content to work together and fight it out between themselves in the end, if they get there

Remember: They ALWAYS tell you in advance

Today we speak of two leaders,
Whose destinies lied in wait.
Vladimir and Volodymyr,
Each had a Major Arcana fate.

Two leaders, their powers entrenched,
Different paths, yet both yearning for the same end.
A destiny to be fulfilled, a mission to be completed,
To bring peace to a land long shattered and defeated.

The Chariot card for each of them,
A parable for a greater unity that cannot be comprehended.
Forgiveness and compassion to lead the way,
So Pleromic traditions may be joined with Demiurgic ones one day.

Volodymyr Zelenskyy born on January 25th, and Vladimir Putin born on October 7th, Must first understand the power in their unity if they ever hope to find a way.
The future of their people is held in these men's hands,
But can they learn to rule together and create a better land?

A distant dream of peace and harmony,
The tone-vibration of equality.
Uncertainty lingers in our hearts as we pray,
For these leaders to embrace this way.

The Chariot card stands for progress and victory,
Despite the narrow or perilous path without a clear story.
Will they find the courage to steer in one accord,
And take their nations to heights never seen before?

Clueless /x/ normies of today,
Unaware of their secret, succubus lover play.
Their spirit partner keeps them content,
But from the future the WingMakers are sent.
They connect, telepathically and in dreams,
Healing their future, or so it seems.

The silly normies, thinking they comprehend
Their spirit lovers, so obvious and plain
Are more than what they can imagine
They're humans from the future, in a hidden game

They need to wake up soon and realize,
In their timeline a war is afoot, and they need to devise
A plan to stop it, to heal a world of despair and fear,
Otherwise the draft will take hold and 700,000 will disappear.
To prevent the war, the draft and more,
They must awaken, before all hope is no more.

The white light awaits us all,
It seeks to take us in,
But if we don't wake up soon,
We may never break its hold again.

Our lives are fated to be farmed,
For the loosh that it provides,
But if we stay aware and ever watchful,
We can defeat what this light decides.

Though there's no guarantee of success,
And the odds may seem so bleak,
If we want to escape this place,
We need to awaken all the normies, my fellow geeks.

The dracos in the astral plane they slyly roam,
Promise false glory, souls they seek to own.
Ruling with deceit and never seen by most,
They manipulate and enact their devilish host.

Fake Jesus lurks in the ether night,
Luring souls with sweet talk, but oh what a fright.
Lost souls his mission, his fervent goal,
Lure them down to Jean DeLac — his ultimate toll.
He fools the dead with façade and masquerade,
And pulls them in with dark words that he has made.

The white light casts a blinding sight,
Leading souls unknowingly to their blight.
Those who join its warm embrace,
Are fated to an endless race.

Lost souls wander in the astral plane
Where horrors lurk and mantises reign.
For dearly departed spirits 'tis a bane
As mantis beams hold them in disdain.

The mantis tractor beam pulls with a force,
It's strong and relentless, no one escapes its course.
No matter what they do, no matter how they plead,
The power of the beam drags them back like a weed.

Its unyielding force can't be stopped or delayed,
With a never ending power it prevails.
No chance of escape, no hope of reprieve,
The pull of the mantis tractor beam is too hard to leave.

Population Density and Social Pathology

When a population of laboratory rats is allowed to increase in a confined space, the rats develop acutely abnormal patterns of behavior that can even lead to the extinction of the population

by John B. Calhoun

In the celebrated thesis of Thomas Malthus, vice and misery impose the ultimate natural limit on the growth of populations. Students of the subject have given most of their attention to misery, that is, to predation, disease and food supply as forces that operate to adjust the size of a population to its environment. But what of vice? Setting aside the moral burden of this word, what are the effects of the social behavior of a species on population growth—and of population density on social behavior?

Some years ago I attempted to submit this question to experimental inquiry. I confined a population of wild Norway rats in a quarter-acre enclosure. With an abundance of food and places to live and with predation and disease eliminated or minimized, only the animals' behavior with respect to one another remained as a factor that might affect the increase in their number. There could be no escape from the behavioral consequences of rising population density. By the end of 27 months the population had become stabilized at 150 adults. Yet adult mortality was so low that 5,000 adults might have been expected from the observed reproductive rate. The reason this larger population did not materialize was that infant mortality was extremely high. Even with only 150 adults in the enclosure, stress from social interaction led to such disruption of maternal behavior that few young survived.

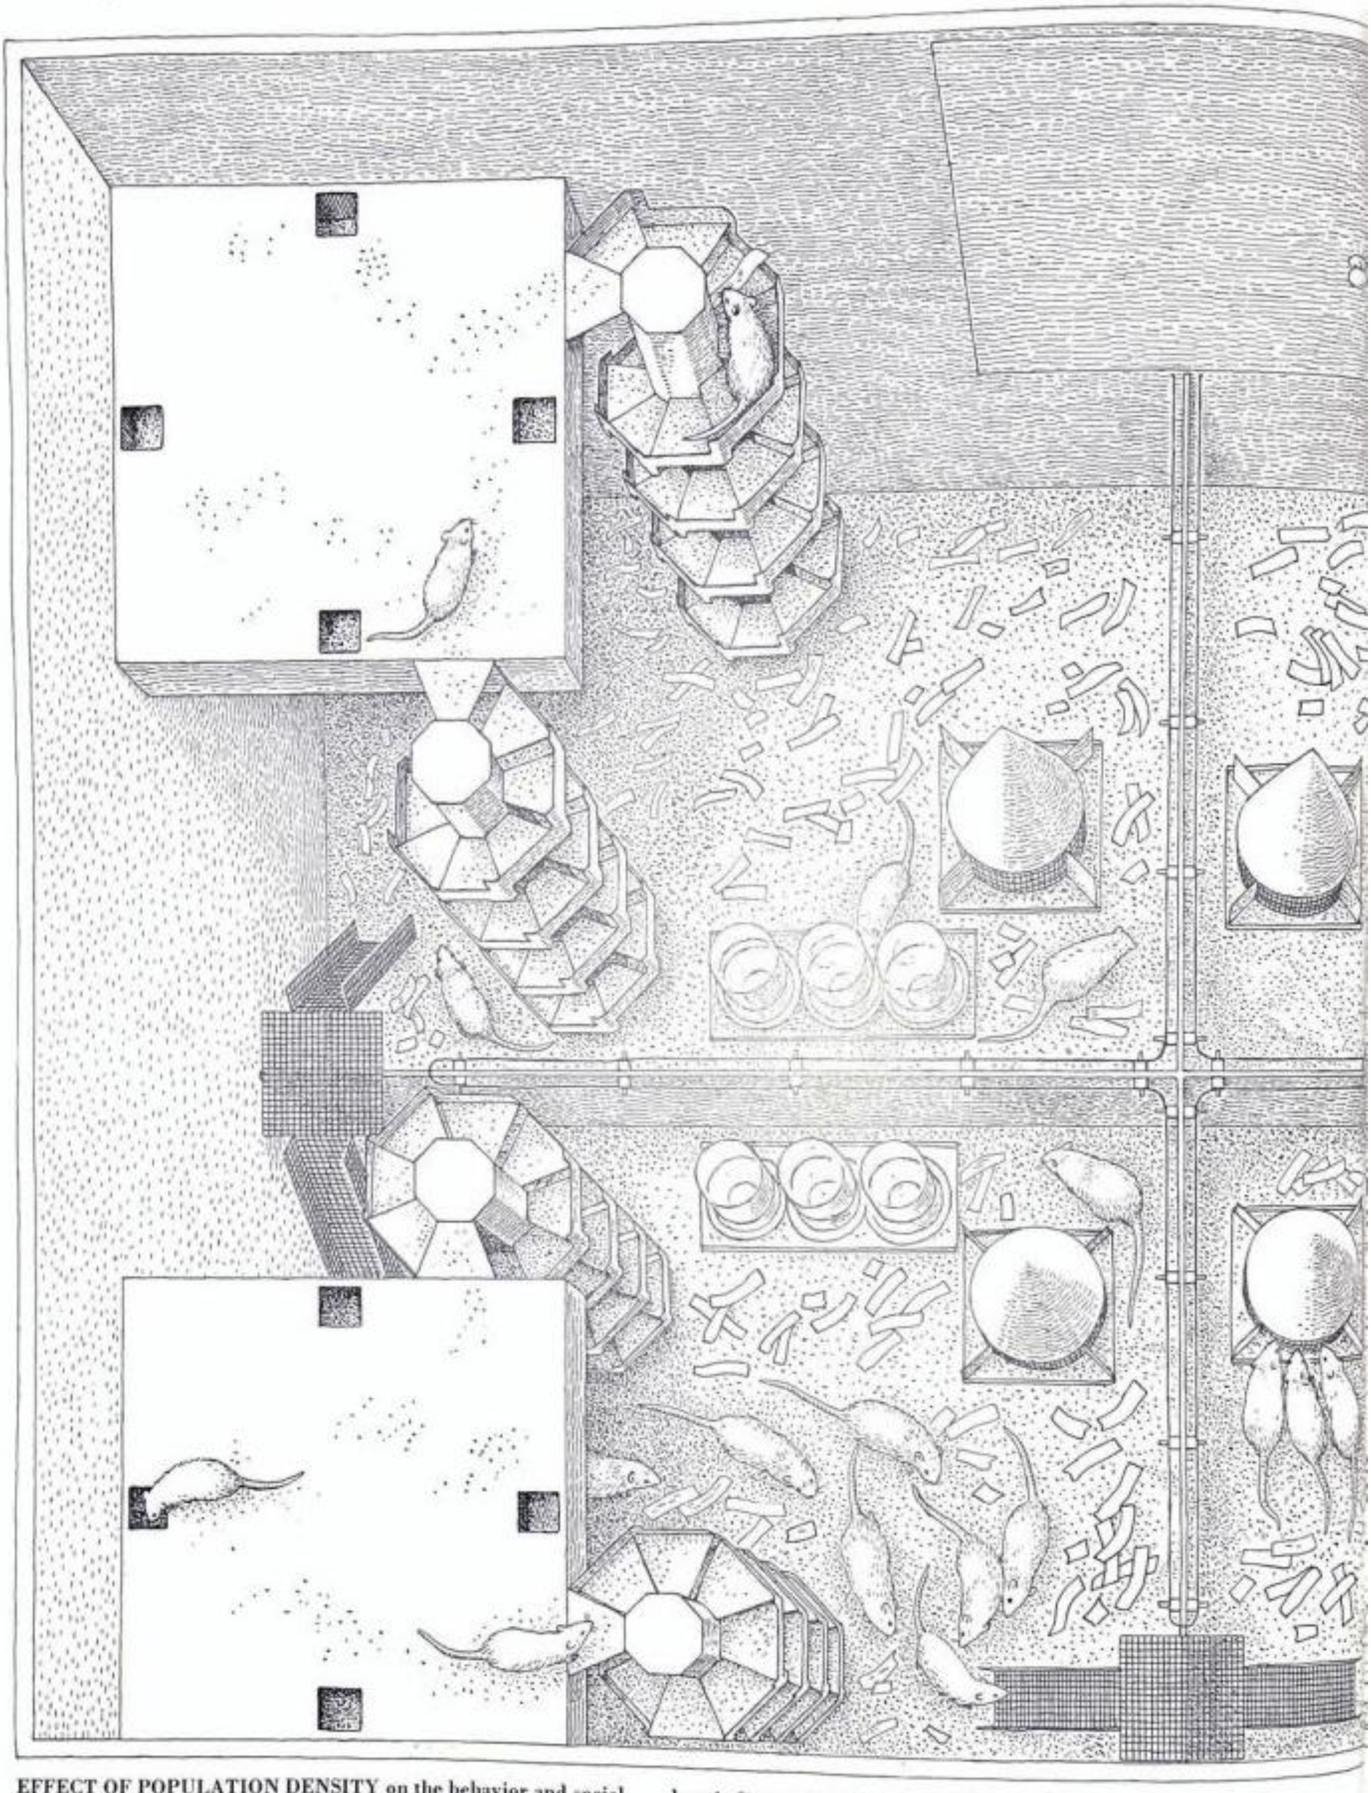
With this background in mind I turned to observation of a domesticated albino strain of the Norway rat under more controlled circumstances indoors. The data for the present discussion come from the histories of six different populations. Each was permitted to increase to approximately twice the number that my experience had indicated could occupy the available space with only moderate stress from social interaction. In each case my associates and I maintained close surveillance of the colonies for 16 months in order to obtain detailed records of the modifications of behavior induced by population density.

The consequences of the behavioral pathology we observed were most apparent among the females. Many were unable to carry pregnancy to full term or to survive delivery of their litters if they did. An even greater number, after successfully giving birth, fell short in their maternal functions. Among the males the behavior disturbances ranged from sexual deviation to cannibalism and from frenetic overactivity to a pathological withdrawal from which individuals would emerge to eat, drink and move about only when other members of the community were asleep. The social organization of the animals showed equal disruption. Each of the experimental populations divided itself into several groups, in each of which the sex ratios were drastically modified. One group might consist of six or seven females and one male, whereas another would have 20 males and only 10 females.

The common source of these disturbances became most dramatically apparent in the populations of our first series of three experiments, in which we observed the development of what we called a behavioral sink. The animals would crowd together in greatest number in one of the four interconnecting pens in which the colony was maintained. As many as 60 of the 80 rats in each experimental population would assemble in one pen during periods of feeding. Individual rats would rarely eat except in the company of other rats. As a result extreme population densities developed in the pen adopted for eating, leaving the others with sparse populations.

Eating and other biological activities were thereby transformed into social activities in which the principal satisfaction was interaction with other rats. In the case of eating, this transformation of behavior did not keep the animals from securing adequate nutrition. But the same pathological "togetherness" tended to disrupt the ordered sequences of activity involved in other vital modes of behavior such as the courting of sex partners, the building of nests and the nursing and care of the young. In the experiments in which the behavioral sink developed, infant mortality ran as high as 96 per cent among the most disoriented groups in the population. Even in the absence of the behavioral sink, in the second series of three experiments, infant mortality reached 80 per cent among the corresponding members of the experimental populations.

The design of the experiments was relatively simple. The three populations of the first series each began with 32 rats; each population of the second series began with 56 rats. In all cases the animals were just past weaning and were evenly divided between males and females. By the 12th month all the populations had multiplied and each comprised 80 adults. Thereafter removal of the infants that survived birth and weaning held the populations steady. Although the destructive effects of population density increased during the course of the experiments, and the mortality rate among the females and among the young was much higher in the 16th month than it was earlier, the number of young that survived to weaning was always large enough to offset the effects of adult mortality and actually to increase the population. The evidence indicates, however, that in time failures of reproductive function would have caused the colonies to die out. At the end of the first series of experiments eight rats—the four healthi-



EFFECT OF POPULATION DENSITY on the behavior and social organization of rats was studied by confining groups of 80 animals in a 10-by-14-foot room divided into four pens by an electrified fence. All pens (numbered 1, 2, 3 and 4 clockwise from door) were complete dwelling units. Conical objects are food hoppers; trays with three bottles are drinking troughs. Elevated burrows, reached by winding staircases, each had five nest boxes, seen in pen 1, where top of burrow has been removed. Ramps connected all pens but 1 and 4. Rats therefore tended to concentrate in pens 2 and 3. Development of a "behavioral sink," which further increased population in one pen, is reflected in pen 2, where three rats are eating simultaneously. Rat approaching ramp in pen 3 is an estrous female pursued by a pack of males. In pens 2 and 3, where population density was highest, males outnumbered females. In pens 1 and 4, a dominant male was usually able to expel all other males and possess a harem of females. Dominant males are sleeping at the base of the ramps in pens 1 and 4. They wake when other males approach, preventing incursions into their territories. The three rats peering down from a ramp are probers, one of the deviant behavioral types produced by the pressures of a high population density.

est males and the four healthiest females in each of two populations—were permitted to survive. These animals were six months old at the time, in the prime of life. Yet in spite of the fact that they no longer lived in overpopulated environments, they produced fewer litters in the next six months than would normally have been expected. Nor did any of the offspring that were born survive to maturity.

The males and females that initiated each experiment were placed, in groups of the same size and sex composition, in each of the four pens that partitioned a 10-by-14-foot observation room. The pens were complete dwelling units; each contained a drinking fountain, a food hopper and an elevated artificial burrow, reached by a winding staircase and holding five nest boxes. A window in the ceiling of the room permitted observation, and there was a door in one wall. With space for a colony of 12 adults in each pen—the size of the groups in which rats are normally found—this setup should have been able to support 48 rats comfortably. At the stabilized number of 80, an equal distribution of the animals would have found 20 adult rats in each pen. But the animals did not dispose themselves in this way.

Biasing factors were introduced in the physical design of the environment to encourage differential use of the four pens. The partitions separating the pens were electrified so that the rats could not climb them. Ramps across three of the partitions enabled the animals to get from one pen to another and so traverse the entire room. With no ramps to permit crossing of the fourth partition, however, the pens on each side of it became the end pens of what was topologically a row of four. The rats had to make a complete circuit of the room to go from the pen we designated 1 to the pen designated 4 on the other side of the partition separating the two. This arrangement of ramps immediately skewed the mathematical probabilities in favor of a higher population density in pens 2 and 3 than in pens 1 and 4. Pens 2 and 3 could be reached by two ramps, whereas pens 1 and 4 had only one each.

The use of pen 4 was further discouraged by the elevation of its burrow to a height greater than that of the burrow in the other end pen. The two middle pens were similarly distinguished from each other, the burrow in pen 3 being higher than that in pen 2. But here the differential appears to have played a smaller role, although pen 2 was used somewhat more often than pen 3.

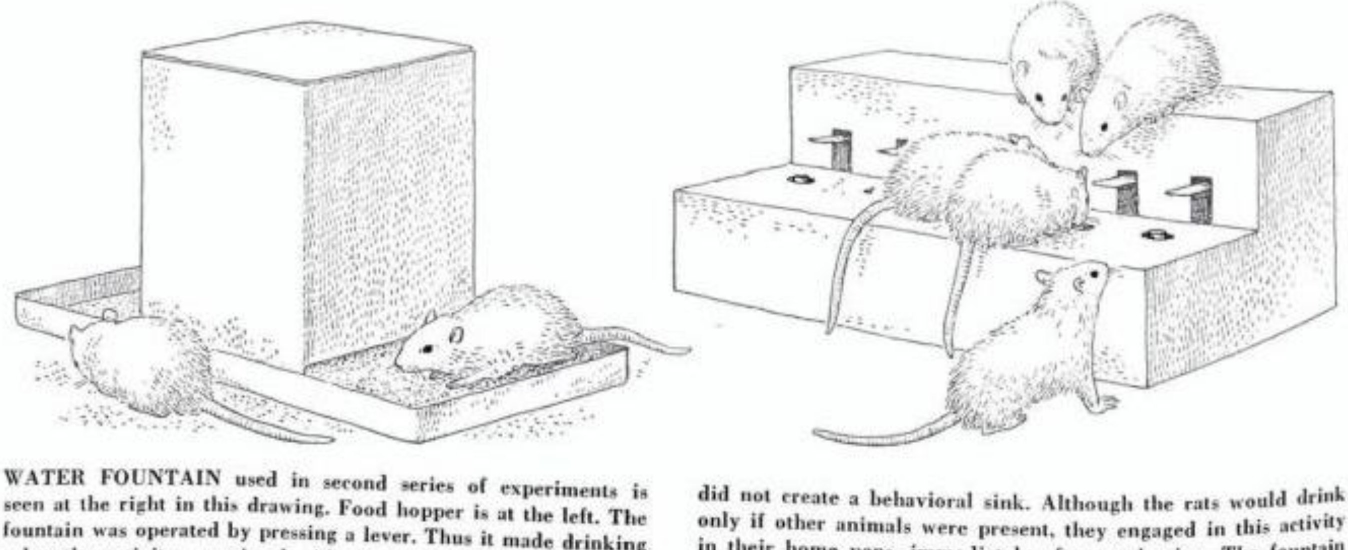
With the distribution of the rats biased by these physical arrangements, the sizes of the groups in each pen could have been expected to range from as few as 13 to as many as 27. With the passage of time, however, changes in behavior tended to skew the distribution of the rats among the pens even more. Of the 100 distinct sleeping groups counted in the 10th to 12th month of each experiment, only 37 fell within the expected size range. In 33 groups there were fewer than 13 rats, and in 30 groups the count exceeded 27. The sex ratio approximated equality only in those groups that fell within the expected size range. In the smaller groups, generally composed of eight adults, there were seldom more than two males. In the larger groups, on the other hand, there were many more males than females. As might be expected, the smaller groups established themselves in the end pens, whereas the larger groups were usually observed to form in the middle pens. The female members of the population distributed themselves about equally in the four pens, but the male population was concentrated almost overwhelmingly in the middle pens.

One major factor in the creation of this state of affairs was the struggle for status that took place among the males. Shortly after male rats reach maturity, at about six months of age, they enter into a round robin of fights that eventually fixes their position in the social hierarchy. In our experiments such fights took place among the males in all the pens, both middle and end. In the end pens, however, it became possible for a single dominant male to take over the area as his territory. During the period when the social hierarchy was being established, the subordinate males in all pens adopted the habit of arising early. This enabled them to eat and drink in peace. Since rats generally eat in the course of their normal wanderings, the subordinate residents of the end pens were likely to feed in one of the middle pens. When, after feeding, they wanted to return to their original quarters, they would find it very difficult. By this time the most dominant male in the pen would probably have awakened, and he would engage the subordinates in fights as they tried to come down the one ramp to the pen. For a while the subordinate would continue its efforts to return to what had been its home pen, but after a succession of defeats it would become so conditioned that it would not even make the attempt. In essence the dominant male established his territorial dominion and his control over a harem of females not by driving the other males out but by preventing their return.

FOOD HOPPER used in first series of experiments is seen at the left in this drawing. Water tray is at the right. The hopper, covered with wire grating and holding hard pellets of food, made eating a lengthy activity during which one rat was likely to meet another. Thus it fostered the development of a behavioral sink: the animals would eat only in the presence of others, and they preferred one of the four hoppers in the room to all the others. In time 75 per cent of the animals crowded into the pen containing this hopper to eat.



WATER FOUNTAIN used in second series of experiments is seen at the right in this drawing. Food hopper is at the left. The fountain was operated by pressing a lever. Thus it made drinking a lengthy activity, associated with the presence of others. But it did not create a behavioral sink. Although the rats would drink only if other animals were present, they engaged in this activity in their home pens immediately after awakening. The fountain therefore acted to produce an even distribution of the population.

Once a male had established his dominion over an end pen and the harem it contained, he was usually able to maintain it. Although he slept a good deal of the time, he made his sleeping quarters at the base of the ramp. He was, therefore, on perpetual guard. Awakening as soon as another male appeared at the head of the ramp, he had only to open his eyes for the invader to wheel around and return to the adjoining pen. On the other hand, he would sleep calmly through all the comings and goings of his harem; seemingly he did not even hear their clatterings up and down the wire ramp. His conduct during his waking hours reflected his dominant status. He would move about in a casual and deliberate fashion, occasionally inspecting the burrow and nests of his harem. But he would rarely enter a burrow, as some other males did, merely to ferret out the females.

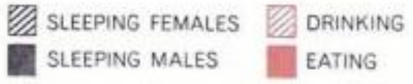
A territorial male might tolerate other males in his domain provided they respected his status. Such subordinate males inhabited the end pens in several of the experiments. Phlegmatic animals, they spent most of their time hidden in the burrow with the adult females, and their excursions to the floor lasted only as long as it took them to obtain food and water. Although they never attempted to engage in sexual activity with any of the females, they were likely, on those rare occasions when they encountered the dominant male, to make repeated attempts to mount him. Generally the dominant male tolerated these advances.

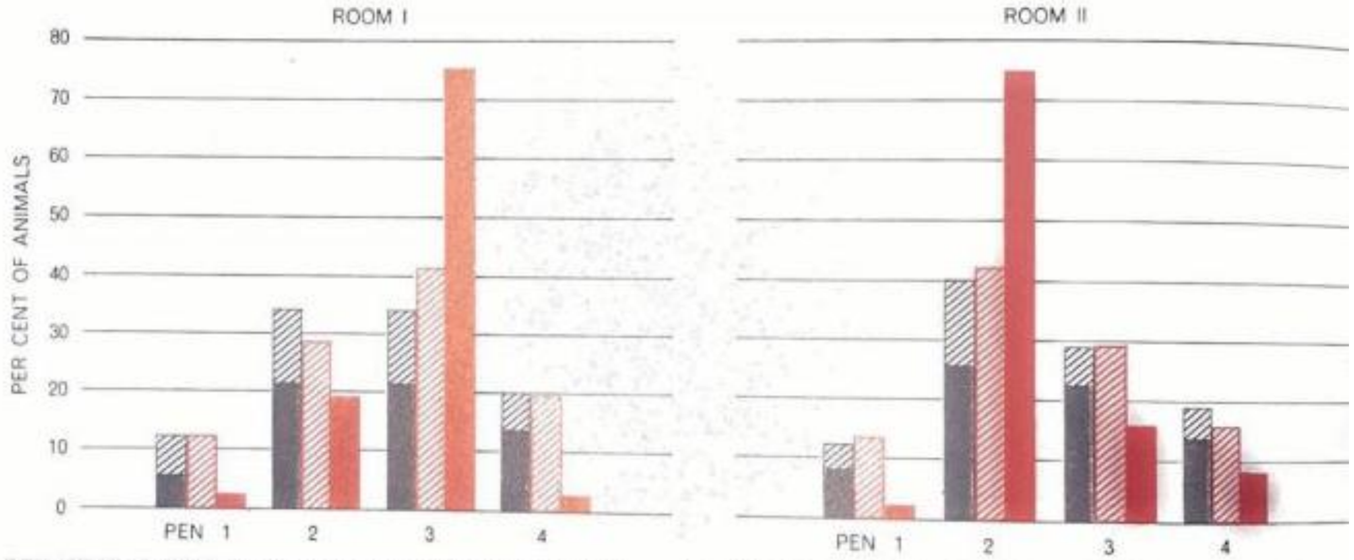
In these end pens, where population density was lowest, the mortality rate among infants and females was also low. Of the various social environments that developed during the course of the experiments, the brood pens, as we called them, appeared to be the only healthy ones, at least in terms of the survival of the group. The harem females generally made good mothers. They nursed their young, built nests for them and protected them from harm. If any situation arose that a mother considered a danger to her pups, she would pick the infants up one at a time and carry them in her mouth to a safer place. Nothing would distract her from this task until the entire litter had been moved. Half the infants born in the brood pens survived.

The pregnancy rates recorded among the females in the middle pens were no lower than those recorded in the end pens. But a smaller percentage of these pregnancies terminated in live births. In the second series of experiments 80 per cent of the infants born in the middle pens died before weaning. In the first series 96 per cent perished before this time. The males in the middle pens were no less affected than the females by the pressures of population density. In both series of experiments the social pathology among the males was high. In the first series, however, it was more aggravated than it was in the second.

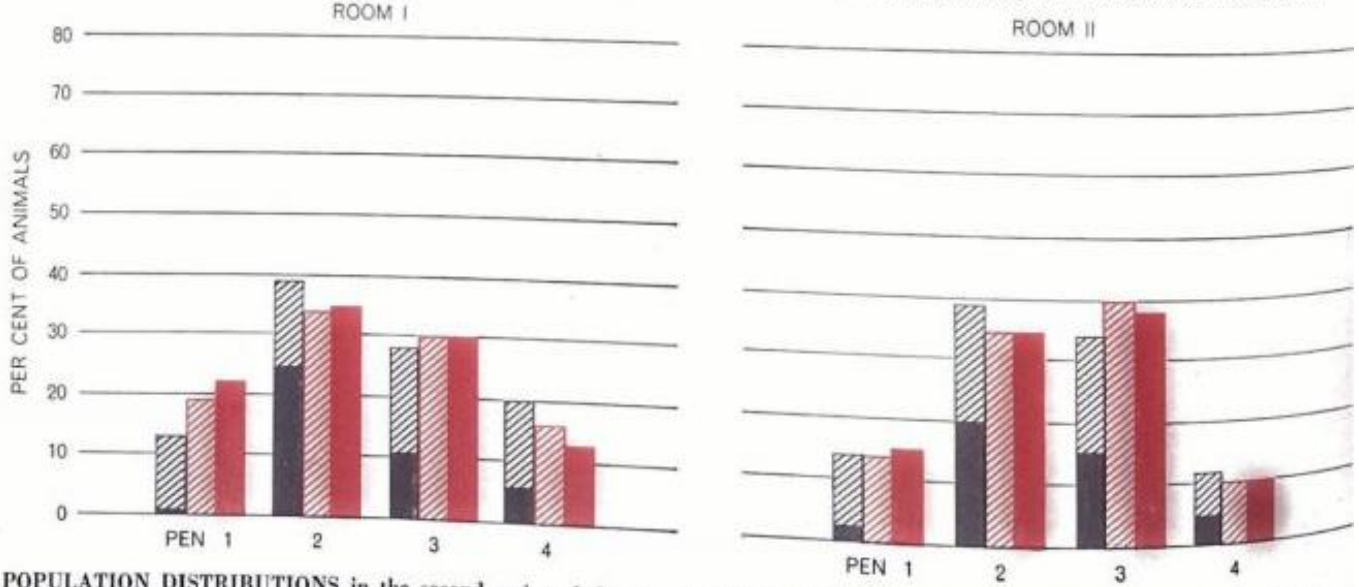
This increase in disturbance among the middle-pen occupants of the first series of experiments was directly related to the development of the phenomenon of the behavioral sink—the outcome of any behavioral process that collects animals together in unusually great numbers. The unhealthy connotations of the term are not accidental: a behavioral sink does act to aggravate all forms of pathology that can be found within a group.

The emergence of a behavioral sink was fostered by the arrangements that were made for feeding the animals. In these experiments the food consisted of small, hard pellets that were kept in a circular hopper formed by wire mesh. In consequence satisfaction of hunger required a continuous effort lasting several minutes. The chances therefore were good that while one rat was eating another would join it at the hopper. As was mentioned earlier, rats usually eat intermittently throughout their waking hours, whenever they are hungry and food is available. Since the arrangement of the ramps drew more rats into the middle pens than into the end ones, it was in



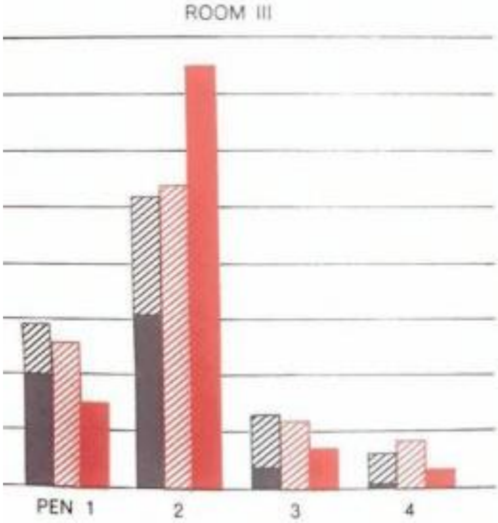


BEHAVIORAL SINK developed in the first series of three experiments, drawing half the rats either into pen 2 or pen 3 of each room to drink and sleep, and even more into that pen to eat. Chart describes the situation in the 13th month of the experiment. By then the population distributions were fairly stable and many females in the densely populated pens had died. One male in room

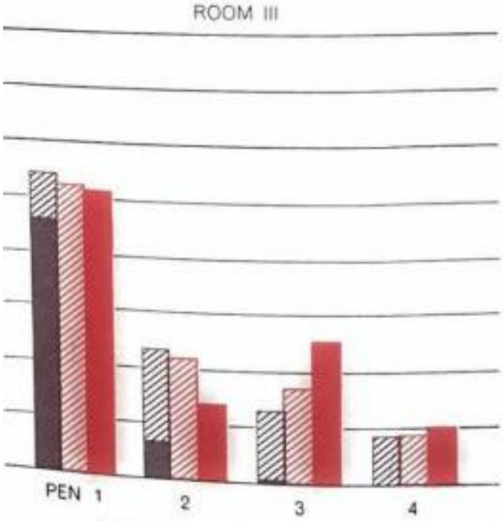


POPULATION DISTRIBUTIONS in the second series of three experiments, in which no behavioral sink developed, were more even than they were in the first series, and the death rate among females and infants was lower. Chart shows the situation in the 13th month, when one male had established pens 3 and 4 of room III as his territory, and another was taking over pen 2, thus these pens that individuals were most likely to find other individuals eating. As the population increased, the association of eating with the presence of other animals was further reinforced. Gradually the social aspect of the activity became determinant: the rats would rarely eat except at hoppers already in use by other animals.

At this point the process became a vicious circle. As more and more of the rats tended to collect at the hopper in one of the middle pens, the other hoppers became less desirable as eating places. The rats that were eating at these undesirable locations, finding themselves deserted by their groupmates, would transfer their feeding to the more crowded pen. By the time the three experiments in the first series drew to a close half or more of the populations were sleeping as well as eating in that pen. As a result there was a decided increase in the number of social adjustments each rat had to make every day. Regardless of which pen a rat slept in, it would go to one particular middle pen several times a day to eat. Therefore it was compelled daily to make some sort of adjustment to virtually every other rat in the experimental population.



III had established pens 3 and 4 as his territory. Subsequently a male in room I took over pen 1, expelling all the other males.



forcing most of the males into pen 1. Pen 1 in rooms I and II had also become territories; later pen 4 in room II became a territory.

No behavioral sinks developed in the second series of experiments, because we offered the rats their diet in a different way. A powdered food was set out in an open hopper. Since it took the animals only a little while to eat, the probability that two animals would be eating simultaneously was considerably reduced. In order to foster the emergence of a behavioral sink I supplied the pens with drinking fountains designed to prolong the drinking activity. The effect of this arrangement was unquestionably to make the animals social drinkers; they used the fountain mainly when other animals lined up at it. But the effect was also to discourage them from wandering and to prevent the development of a behavioral sink. Since rats generally drink immediately on arising, drinking and the social interaction it occasioned tended to keep them in the pens in which they slept. For this reason all social pathology in the second series of experiments, although severe, was less extreme than it was in the first series.

Females that lived in the densely populated middle pens became progressively less adept at building adequate nests and eventually stopped building nests at all. Normally rats of both sexes build nests, but females do so most vigorously around the time of parturition. It is an undertaking that involves repeated periods of sustained activity, searching out appropriate materials (in our experiments strips of paper supplied an abundance), transporting them bit by bit to the nest and there arranging them to form a cuplike depression, frequently sheltered by a hood. In a crowded middle pen, however, the ability of females to persist in this biologically essential activity became markedly impaired. The first sign of disruption was a failure to build the nest to normal specifications. These females simply piled the strips of paper in a heap, sometimes trampling them into a pad that showed little sign of cup formation. Later in the experiment they would bring fewer and fewer strips to the nesting site. In the midst of transporting a bit of material they would drop it to engage in some other activity occasioned by contact and interaction with other individuals met on the way. In the extreme disruption of their behavior during the later months of the population's history they would build no nests at all but would bear th[illegible]s on the sawdust in the burrow b[illegible].

The middle-pen females similarly lost the ability to transport their litters from one place to another. They would move only part of their litters and would scatter them by depositing the infants in different places or simply dropping them on the floor of the pen. The infants thus abandoned throughout the pen were seldom nursed. They would die where they were dropped and were thereupon generally eaten by the adults.

The social stresses that brought about this disorganization in the behavior of the middle-pen females were imposed with special weight on them when they came into heat. An estrous female would be pursued relentlessly by a pack of males, unable to escape from their soon unwanted attentions. Even when she retired to a burrow, some males would follow her. Among these females there was a correspondingly high rate of mortality from disorders in pregnancy and parturition. Nearly half of the first- and second-generation females that lived in the behavioral-sink situation had died of these causes by the end of the 16th month. Even in the absence of the extreme stresses of the behavioral sink, 25 per cent of the females died. In contrast, only 15 per cent of the adult males in both series of experiments died.

A female that lived in a brood pen was sheltered from these stresses even though during her periods of estrus she would leave her pen to mate with males in the other pens of the room. Once she was satiated, however, she could return to the brood pen. There she was protected from the excessive attention of other males by the territorial male.

For the effect of population density on the males there is no index as explicit and objective as the infant and maternal mortality rates. We have attempted a first approximation of such an index, however, by scoring the behavior of the males on two scales: that of dominance and that of physical activity. The first index proved particularly effective in the early period of the experiments, when the males were approaching adulthood and beginning the fights that eventually fixed their status in the social hierarchy. The more fights a male initiated and the more fights he won, the more likely he was to establish a position of dominance. More than half the animals in each experiment gave up the struggle for status after a while, but among those that persisted a clear-cut hierarchy developed.

In the crowded middle pens no one individual occupied the top position in this hierarchy permanently. In every group of 12 or more males one was the most aggressive and most often the victor in fights. Nevertheless, this rat was periodically ousted from his position. At regular intervals during the course of their waking hours the top-ranking males engaged in free-for-alls that culminated in the transfer of dominance from one male to another. In between these tumultuous changings of the guard relative calm prevailed.

The aggressive, dominant animals were the most normal males in our populations. They seldom bothered either the females or the juveniles. Yet even they exhibited occasional signs of pathology, going berserk, attacking females, juveniles and ~~the less active males~~, and showing a particular predilection —which rats do not normally display— for biting other animals on the tail.

Below the dominant males both on the status scale and in their level of activity were the homosexuals—a group perhaps better described as pansexual. These animals apparently could not discriminate between appropriate and inappropriate sex partners. They made sexual advances to males, juveniles and females that were not in estrus. The males, including the dominants as well as the others of the pansexuals' own group, usually accepted their attentions. The general level of activity of these animals was only moderate. They were frequently attacked by their dominant associates, but they very rarely contended for status.

Two other types of male emerged, both of which had resigned entirely from the struggle for dominance. They were, however, at exactly opposite poles as far as their levels of activity were concerned. The first were completely passive and moved ~~through the community~~ like somnambulists. They ignored all the other rats of both sexes, and all the other rats ignored them. Even when the females were in estrus, these passive animals made no advances to them. And only very rarely did other males attack them or approach them for any kind of play. To the casual observer the passive animals would have appeared to be the healthiest and most attractive members of the community. They were fat and sleek, and their fur showed none of the breaks and bare spots left by the fighting in which males usually engage. But their social disorientation was nearly complete.

Perhaps the strangest of all the types that emerged among the males was the group I have called the probers. These animals, which always lived in the middle pens, took no part at all in the status struggle. Nevertheless, they were the most active of all the males in the experimental populations, and they per~~sisted in their activity~~ in spite of attacks by the dominant animals. In addition to being hyperactive, the probers were both NORMAL MATERNAL BEHAVIOR among rats includes building a fluffy, well-shaped nest for the young. The drawing at the left shows such a nest, holding a recently born litter. The drawing at the right shows this same nest about two weeks later. It has been flattened by the weight of the animals' bodies but it still offers ample protection and warmth, and the remaining pups can still rest comfortably. In these experiments half the offspring of normal mothers survived infancy and were successfully weaned.

hypersexual and homosexual, and in time many of them became cannibalistic. They were always on the alert for estrous females. If there were none in their own pens, they would lie in wait for long periods at the tops of the ramps that gave on the brood pens and peer down into them. They always turned and fled as soon as the territorial rat caught sight of them. Even if they did not manage to escape unhurt, they would soon return to their vantage point.

The probers conducted their pursuit of estrous females in an abnormal manner. Mating among rats usually involves a distinct courtship ritual. In the first phase of this ritual the male pursues the female. She thereupon retires for a while into the burrow, and the male lies quietly in wait outside, occasionally poking his head into the burrow for a moment but never entering it. (In the wild forms of the Norway rat this phase usually involves a courtship dance on the mound at the mouth of the burrow.) The female at last emerges from the burrow and accepts the male's advances. Even in the disordered community of the middle pens this pattern was observed by all the males who engaged in normal heterosexual behavior. But the probers would not tolerate even a short period of waiting at the burrows in the pens where accessible females lived. As soon as a female retired to a burrow, a prober would follow her inside. On these expeditions the probers often found dead young lying in the nests; as a result they tended to become cannibalistic in the later months of a population's history.

Although the behavioral sink did not develop in the second series of experiments, the pathology exhibited by the populations in both sets of experiments, and in all pens, was severe. Even in the brood pens females could raise only half their young to weaning. Nor does the difference in infant mortality between the middle pens of the first and second series–96 per cent in the first as opposed to 80 per cent in the second–represent a biologically significant improvement. It is obvious that the behavioral repertory with which the Norway rat has emerged from the trials of evolution and domestication must break down under the social pressures generated by population density. In time, refinement of experimental procedures and of the interpretation of these studies may advance our understanding to the point where they may contribute to the making of value judgments about analogous problems confronting the human species.

Ah yes, I remember that tale when Elder Anon told it too us years ago.

Neil Strong-Arm - a giant of a man, eight foot tall some say, with long wild hair and hands that could crush a man's skull. He and Aldrin the Brave were both Men of the of the Usaf, the Sky Warriors of the Old Nation - great warriors who would fly to battle in their Skyships.

In the Before Times there were many great nations of Men, filled with cities of light and peoples too numerous too count. Of these nations two rose above the rest - the Men of the West - the Old Nation, the Merika, and the Men of the East in the cold Red Lands.

For many generations the two nations stood on the brink of war, forging ever mightier weapons to vanquish each other, until their arms were so powerful they could smote the very Earth into ruin. Until one day, the leader of the Old Nation, King John of the Kennedy, proposed a peace between their peoples.

Long had the Men of the Two Nations strived to climb higher and higher into the heavens, to dare the Gods and laugh in their faces. King John proposed that whichever nation could reach the Shores of Luna first, the other would disband their armies. And to this end he charged Neil Strong-Arm and Aldrin the Brave with the deed.

Ah it was a perilous journey indeed. Sailing the Skyship Apollo into the black abyss, and through the deadly poisonous waters of the Vana Len. Four long days and nights they journeyed, until at last they could see the White Shores of Luna, and the great barren lands beyond. They landed their ship upon the shores, and with a giant leap Neil Strong-Arm planted his great boots upon the sand, looked down upon the world below, raised the flag of the Old Nation above his head and laughed in the very faces of the Gods - "This voyage was not for one man but for all Men!"

Oh they sung songs of their journey for many years, and made many voyages to Luna. For years men dreamed of cities of light overlooking the White Shores, or of ships sailing beyond to the Red Sands of Ares, or even of reaching beyond to new stars and new worlds.

Sadly, it was not to be. For the Men of Old, for all their wisdom and courage, were still corruptible. Too tempted by treasure and power, too concerned with Earthly matters to spend time exploring the Heavens. Perhaps if they had had your innocence, child, your curiosity and wonder - it would be a better world now.
